Shapes and Sizes

Falls Church High School, is a school of many dimensions, whether it be the people, the activities, or the buildings themselves, we have all shapes and sizes at this school. The theme of the '88-'89 yearbook is "Shapes and Sizes" because of the very fact that every one is different.

The very first day of school, everyone noticed some changes had already been made. The auditorium and main gym had been closed entirely, you might say they were getting a "face lift." "No problem," you thought, "the drama department can use the little theater, and the underclassmen will just have to suffer running the track in the middle of November." Well, the track was resurfaced last summer, but the little theater suddenly became the library. Speaking of the library, that is one area that is having a great deal of change done to its size. An extra twenty feet was added on. A whole new shape!

As the year went on windows, doors, and the senior courtyard disappeared beneath cinder blocks, cement, and other rubble. Suddenly, shapes were there that had never been! There are also a great deal of changes in classes and teachers this year. Many people signed up for classes last year not knowing who they would have as a teacher. Now, if you take AP American History you can expect to have Dr. Elder standing at the podium, Mrs. Betsy Grau is the new German teacher, Mr. Motes has taken on his first year teaching a GT English class, and Mrs. Case and Mrs. Manczuk are now responsible for the GT World Civ class. These are just a few of the changes in teachers. Not only were the teachers different, but classrooms were changed so the science labs and other rooms could be worked on without anything in the way.

Last but not least, we had changes in the shapes and sizes of this year's freshman. You could always tell who the ninth graders were by the look on their faces, but boy, they sure didn't look like we did when we were freshman. You always thought freshmen were supposed to be "little people", but some of those little people were over six feet tall!

One of the last, and perhaps most frustrating size changes this year, was the student parking lot or what there was of it!. Because of the need for space for the extra classrooms, teachers were forced to park in the student parking lot. The students were forced to go else where, but there was no where to go.

Falls Church is going to continue its change in shape and size, and we are proud to be part of this school's shapes, sizes, and people.

Summer

Those were the days

Summer was spent in a variety of ways, from going on vacation, working, to going to school again. Yes, that's right some people did attend summer school!

Summer school is not for those who did bad in class. Kathy Quang stated, she went so she could get ahead in school and increase her chances of getting into the college of her choice.

For those who worked, summer was mostly spent indoors. It really dose not sound like much fun, but working does have it's rewards too! While almost everyone was traveling or hanging out with their friends, these working people were earning hard, cold, cash, that could be used for things such as buying a motorcycle! That's what Francis Neenan did, he used the money that he earned while working and bought a motorcycle, so he could cruise to and from school.

For those who went out of town for vacation, summer was a whole different story. While everyone was slaving over school or jobs the others were laying out and getting that great, exotic tan to show off at school.

Although most spent vacation at the beach, other people went to places one of which is Puerto Rico. Sharone Mudafort, who went back to Puerto Rico this summer, hadn't been their for eight years, but found that it was still a great place to be!

Even though people went various different places for summer vacation. We all agree it was one of the best summers ever!!!

1988 Homecoming Court

This year's Homecoming weekend was kicked off with a pep rally held outside in Paul Weber Stadium. The Falls Church Marching Band, cheerleaders, mascot and the Lady Jags Drill Team performed for the students and faculty. The performers were later joined by the Senior class male cheerleaders, dressed in wigs and skirts. The Fall Athletes were introduced along with the Homecoming court, who were escorted down the field by this year's "It's Academic Team."

That evening the big game against the Washington-Lee Generals began. At half time the band played as the Homecoming Court rode around the field in a various assortment of convertible cars.

The Freshmen representative was Ruth Lee, for the Sophomores- Laura Meadows, and Nikki Brown represented the Junior class. Stephanie Weber was crowned Homecoming Queen with David Troung as the King. Aimee Durtrow was titled Maid of Honor.

The F.C. Band's Gumby and Pokey float, and the Freshmen's Tigger float were given honorable mention. The Sophomores were awarded third place for their Road Runner float. The Juniors' Pink Panther float gave them second place, and the Bam-Bam Rubble lifted the Seniors to a well deserved first place prize.

The Football game ended with a victory for the Jaguars. The final score was 19-14.

The following evening, a dance was held in honor of the 1988-1989 Falls Church Homecoming Court.

Ruth Lee was the representative for the Freshmen class.

Sophomore class was represented by a J.V. Cheerleader, Laura Meadows.

For the Junior class, Nikki Brown was the proud representative.

Kristi Pope, escorted by her proud mother, was happy to stand before the crowd.

Elements of Style

The look of Falls Church doesn't seem to change alot, even though many styles come and go quickly. In this day and age there isn't one certain thing that is "in". For example, here in Falls Church, we have various styles: the country look, the Preppie way of life, New Wave, and the Skaters. In each case they create their own style.

Numerous styles that we see today are repeats from the 50's, 60's, and 70's. For instance, rolled up jeans, tie dye shirts and pants, and the woven bracelets worn around wrists and ankles all come from a different era.

Style isn't just in clothes. It includes hair, different types of music, and even the cars people drive. To some, a '57 Chevy is the epitome of class but to others, "who really wants to be seen in an old car when you can be riding in a brand new shiny red sports car listening to rock-n-roll?" Then again, some are into fixed up 4x4 trucks enjoying the sounds of Hank Williams and other country artists.

Hair styles of the '80's definately differ. Whether you prefer punk, short, long or a combination of all lengths, as long as you are comfortable with yourself, you have it made. No matter what you choose to do, wear, or look like, you're always in style.

$ EASY MONEY $

Jobs are a big necessity in life, whether it's just for income to support yourself or for that brand new porche 911 turbo, that you've always dreamed of. What's the difference? NONE!! We all need the money, it has become a life source.

Working can be an incredible pain, but you can't expect to get a good job and then do nothing, can you? Nope! Life's not all it's cut out to be sometimes, and working certainly isn't a piece of cake. So, that's why you must make working as much fun as possible, your job is what you make it. The students at Falls Church tell us just how much fun working can be.....

"Working as a lifeguard is the easiest job you can get. Linda Grillo and I have worked together for two summers and have gotten paid for getting a tan, eating, and having friends visit us."

-Tina Sheperdson 89'

"I really enjoyed working at T. H. Mandy. It was pretty easy, it payed well and the 30% discount was awesome!!"

-Sharone Mudafort 91'

"I work at Kinney's shoe store to make money. The best part of it though is getting 20% off at Footlocker, because Kinney's Corp. own that store."

-Chris Phillips 90'

"I work at Providence recreation center teaching ballet and tumbling. It's a lot of fun working with the little kids. "

-Sara Dickerson 90'

"I work at Spring River Corp. It's fun. I get to lift weights and rent canoes for free... and I get paid for it!!! This is the only way to work!!!

-Skip Weakly 89'

Working is a big responsibility, and keeping a job is hard, but as well as earning money you are also learning. Students at Falls Church portray working as a "learning experience."

The Day Has Ended

What do Falls Church students do when the last bell rings? Well, some go catch the bus home and do homework or watch t.v., some rush off to jobs or a friends house and, the more active group, stays afterschool for sports, clubs and help from teachers.

Some students manage to do alot of theese things. For instance, Amy Waters stays after school for clubs, then goes to track practice, then goes to her job, and finally goes home and does homework. Other students, like Sumavathey Ang, just go home and do homework.

Weekends are a different story. As Amy Burnette says, "There's always a party somewhere on a weekend." If students aren't partying, they can usually be found at the mall, at the movies, on a date or just sitting at home. Some dedicated sports enthusiasts practice their sports over the weekend. Mario Zuniga practices soccer at an indoor gym on the weekends. Some students do more unusual things than others for example Robbie Feagans enjoys riding around in the mud, while Kari Freeburg enjoys being a "spectator" at her boyfriends soccer games.

Whatever the activity, Falls Church students are always active, whether they're improving their social status, their grade point average, or just having a good time.

Bernadette Orevillo, Lorraine Ramirez and Madelene Asinero enjoy a friends party.

NOW WHAT????????

"School follows me everywhere, Leave me alone," was the response from this student when asked about after hours.

Christie Banks was sportin' in her P.J.'s during Pride Week.

Pride Week

Pride Week began November 28 and ran through December 2. This year was quite different from the pride weeks of previous years, instead of rallying spirit for a football game, it was for the first basketball game. Falls Church had it's very first bon fire ever, the night before the first game from 6 to 7.

The school construction posed a problem for the traditional hallway decoration. Rather than cancel it all together, it was moved into the cafeteria, where each class was given a wall. Student Government decided on the way the walls would be judged to see which class would win. Students were to give money to the class who had the wall decorated the best.

The students weren't the only ones who participated, the teachers also got into many of the weeks festivities by decorating everyday. Finally, the week came to a suitable close on Friday with the first pep rally in FC's newly upgraded gymnasium. A lot of the students commented on how nice and large the gym looked.

The Band played enthusiastically at the year's first pep rally indoors.

It's a Hoedown!

Yep that's the word, so ya'll gather round, Sadie Hawkins has come to town! The place to be is Falls Church High, but the roles are switched - girls grab your guy! Marryin' Sam will be at the stand. Guys, now's the time to ask fer her hand. The fun's not over, kick up your heels! Now ya'll join hands fer a Virginia Reel. So you've grabbed your partner and do - see - doed swingin' all night, the time just goes.

Special thanks to the Key Club for this event, and to all who helped, and time spent on decoratin' and for this grand ole ball.

Close But No Cigar

Who says football is a "man's game"? Do you think cheerleading is for girls only? Not so at Falls Church!

On November 22, typical roles were reversed. Instead of guys being on the field with pads and helmets, they stood on the sidelines in skimpy skirts and tissue stuffed sweaters. The girls wore jerseys and sweatpants, and hit the field. There was more to see though, the officials, Mr. DeWitt and Mr. Liebenstain were dressed Hawaiian style, and reffed a great game.

The Senior/Freshmen team managed to shut out the Juniors and Sophomores/Juniors take control of the ball.

Both teams huddle as they discuss their next play.

Sophomores 14 to 0, with the incredible leadership of Mr. Metcalfe. The Juniors and Seniors were coached by Mike Hobiena, Chris Sweat and Eric Purvis. The game was an outstanding success, fun to watch and even more fun to participate in.

For most girls Powder Puff was a fun filled event to show school spirit, luckily there were no blood thirsty savages.

Kisses in the Night

The 1988-89 Sweetheart Dance was a big success! It was held on Saturday, February 12, 1989 at Falls Church High School. The student government decorated the cafeteria with red, pink and white streamers and balloons and

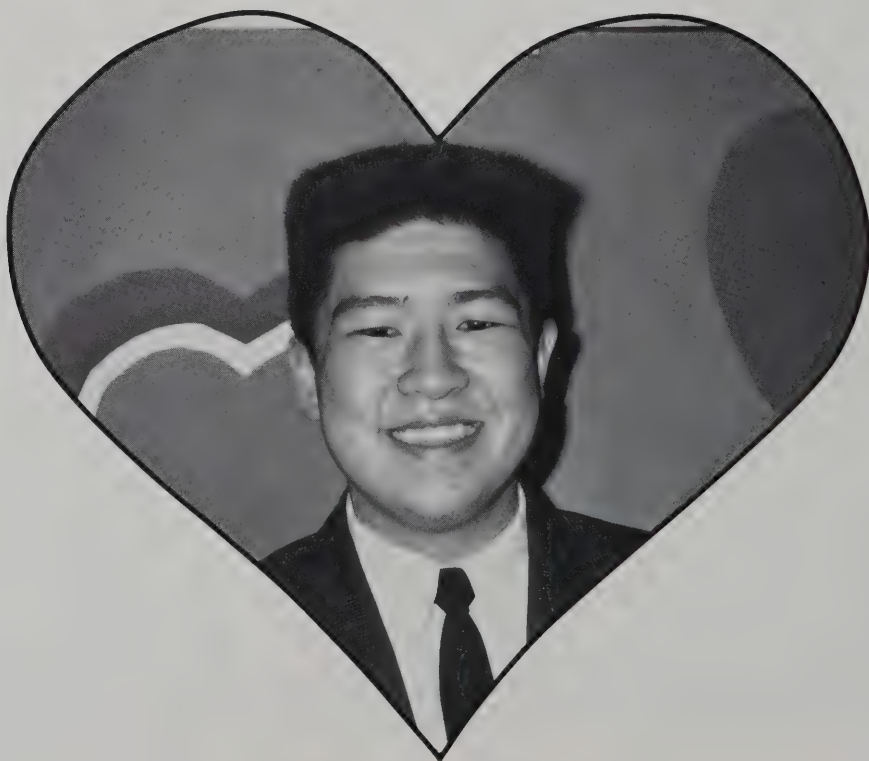

- last of all - the big, silver, rotating sequined globe. The dance began at 8:30 pm and lasted until 11:30 pm. The procession of the court began at 10:00 with representatives of the freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior classes. The Sweetheart King was Kevin Lee, and the Queen was Lisa Edwards. In all, the dance was the put together effort of the students and faculty and was enjoyed by everyone. "Their efforts were definitely worth it," sums up Ben Fox.

Advanced Classes Help FC

"I will match our Falls Church kids with any in the country as far as their willingness, capability, and conduct goes." So says Mrs. Carolyn Canzano about her GT Chemistry and AP biology students. Many other teachers of AP and GT classes here at Falls Church had much the same thing to say.

There are over forty Advanced Placement and Gifted and Talented Classes offered at FCHS. Unfortunately enrollment is too low to offer more but students seem quite satisfied with those we do have.

"College admissions counselors are really looking at whether you've taken an AP course or not. Those classes are becoming more important to colleges than SAT's," says Dr. Glenda Petrini. We are lucky here at F.C. to be offered so many advanced classes, a great deal of schools don't offer half as many.

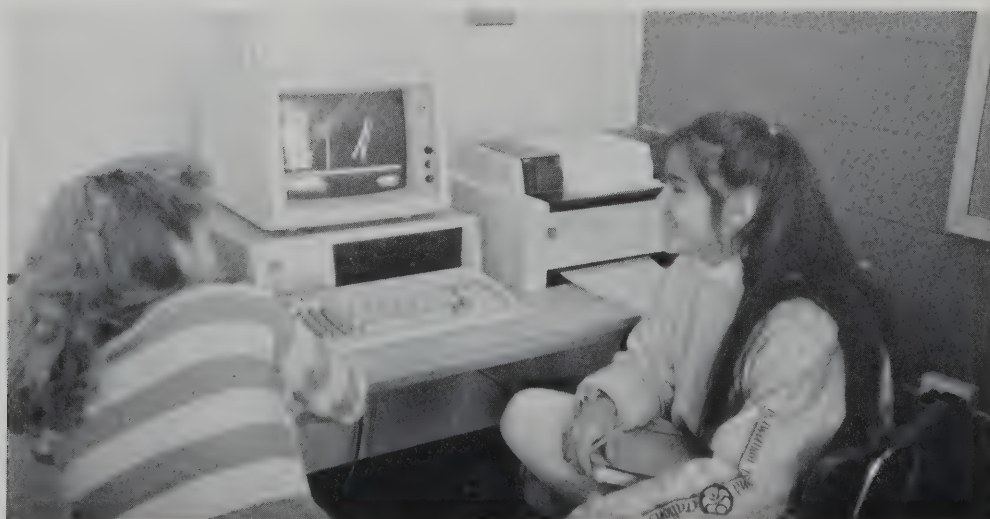

Requirements for getting into a GT or AP class are getting more strict. As of last year students had to take a short quiz to get into the twelfth grade GT Humanities course. Teachers like Dr. Carlyn Elder feel there should be "some sort of short competency test" for the AP classes as well.

Many schools around the area have combined GT and AP classes, a fact that distresses some teachers here at Falls Church. GT classes are geared toward the more creative person, someone who enjoys projects and making presentations. AP classes are college level courses which are aimed at preparing students for the AP test in the spring. Both courses use college level texts and involve a great deal of reading.

Another distressing fact which is not generally known, is that all other counties in the state of Virginia with the exception of Fairfax give students one full point extra on their GPA for taking an AP class, and a point five compensation for taking a GT course. Fairfax county gives a point five for an AP course and no grade compensation at all for a GT course! Some teachers curve their grades a point or two, to off set this difference, while other teachers, such as Mr. John Whitney, feel it is unnecessary to do so and simply follow county policy.

GT courses will help you get ahead and AP courses will save you money in the future. You can't lose either way. We have some of the best advanced class teachers in the country so see your guidance counselor and check them out!

Something seems to have gone wrong with Thyra Freeberg and Margie Saine's graph.

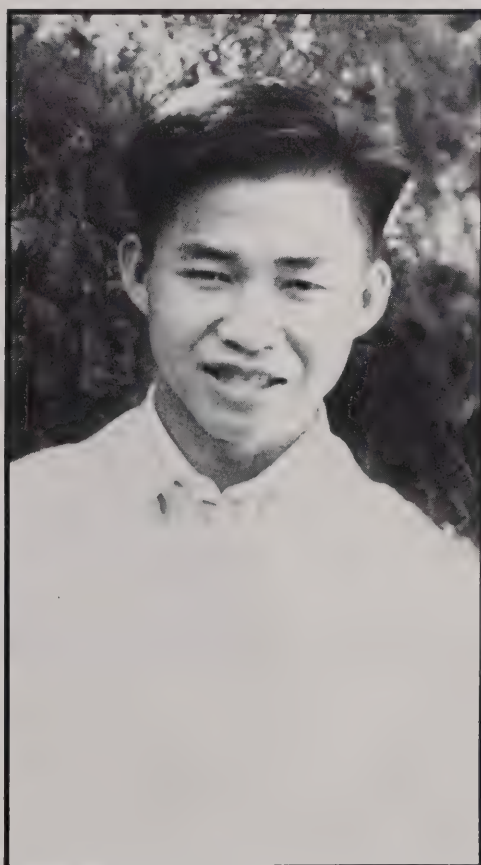

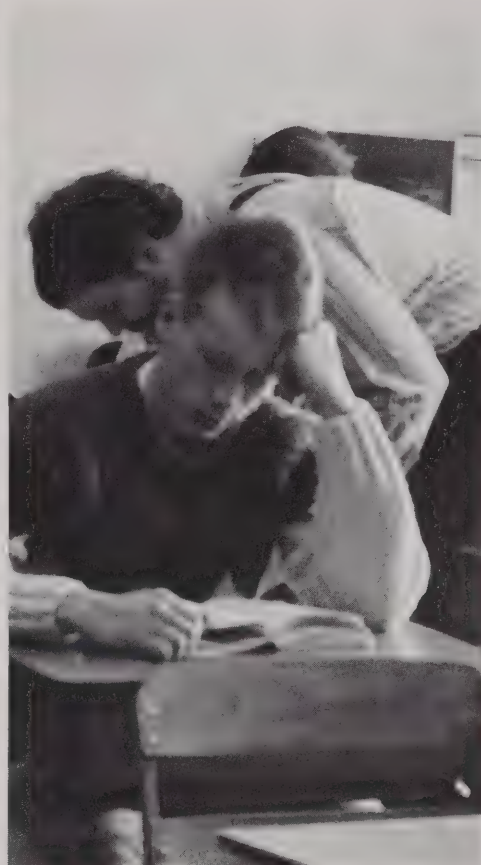

Patty McPeters and Ayesha Velderman seem amused by the essays in their GT English class.

GT Geometry students enjoy using the computers for plotting graphs.

David Haugh muddles through a college text in his AP English class taught by Mr. Margrave.

On Monday, December 12, 1988 senior Quan Quoc Bao (Danny) Tran learned from a Mr. Bill Liddle that his essay on "Why I Choose to Vote" was awarded First Place in the Virginia State PTA Essay Contest. This award earned Danny a $1000 savings bond, publication in the Virginia PTA Bulletin, and a special display at the PTA state convention. Government teachers assigned this project, read and evaluated more than 300 essay entries, then sent the 10 best essays to the Falls Church High School PTSA.

The Falls Church PTSA, faculty, and staff are proud of another winning effort from students at FCHS.

Shapes of Science

Ugh! Science again? Students consider it one of the most dreaded subjects ranging from either Earth Science, to A.P. Biology and A.P. chemistry. Science may have been boring in Junior High because of the lack of exciting experiments to do. But when you take a science course in High School it becomes fun and challenging. Teachers treat you more like an adult with responsibilities. You feel obligated to act mature since you could be in dangerous surroundings, such as risky experiments.

Another thing that makes science interesting is the hands on experience you get in classes, such as A.P. Biology.

After having passed physics, A.P. Biology allows you to do exciting activities, for instance, they go on numerous field trips, including one to Lewes, Delaware to collect specimens. Imagine going all the way to Delaware for school! What fun! At Delaware, the A.P. Biology class did various things such as taking water samples. They brought back such things as organisms from both salt water, and fresh water locations.

When it comes to science, don't think about your seventh grade science teacher, Mrs. Widdleboggle and her fish tank! High School offers more challenging and more meaningful science courses that can affect your opinion on this field. So go ahead and dissect that pig!

Car Trouble?

Just call in the experts

Auto Mechanics is divided into 3 different classes: Basic, which is 1st period and is mostly book work; Auto Mechanics I which is 2nd period and is a combination of demonstrations, hands-on work and book/classroom work; and finally Auto Mechanics II which is 4th, 5th, 6th periods and consists of hands-on work, that prepares students for commercial work.

Joel Rosen, the Auto Mechanics teacher, receives cars for demos primarily through donations. For a $2 service charge (donated to VICA) and the cost of parts, the students in Auto Mech II will fix your car for you during school. All you need is an appointment. Auto Mechanics usually works on approximately 20 cars per month and is always looking for donations.

Students are graded on their attendance, performance, classroom tests, and their knowledge of tools and parts. VICA (Vocational Industrial Clubs of America) consists of classes like Cosmetology, Auto Mechanics, the Nursing program, Restaurant Trades, and Catering. The president of this club is senior Kenny Weisskopf. VICA is planning to sponsor many fund raisers this year including a car show, where profits will go to charity.

Mr. Rosen keeps a careful eye over the students in class.

Electronics

As an electronics student, concentration is a must.

Lockers keep all the gadgets safe from harm.

Phillip Westfall finds his project somewhat amusing.

Electronics

The electronics course offers many opportunities for pursuing a career in the field. As Shawn Huycke says "Electronics recharges my battery! I really enjoy the course!" Electronics, taught by Mr. Gaylord, is a full year, one period course that teaches skills such as wiring, repairing and improving household appliances and much more. Many students enjoy the course and plan to further their education in the electronic field. Mr. Gaylord is respected by all of his students, and as Shawn Huycke sums it up "I hope to follow in his footsteps one day. He's a great guy!"

Snip, Snip

Cosmetology is a two year career program offered to grades ten through twelve. It's designed to prepare the students for work in the hair care industry. There are two types of cosmetology, levels I and II, and they're both three period classes. Students receive three credits upon satisfactory completion of the class. In cosmetology I, the students are introduced to the basic manipulative skills and theory associated with the beauty industry. In cosmetology II fundamental skills in all phases of cosmetology are further developed. The students will demonstrate expertise in performing advanced techniques for employment in a professional salon. Upon completion of cosmetology I and II and the passing of the Virginia State Board Cosmetology Exam, the students are assisted in obtaining a job as a licensed professional cosmetologist.

Floor Plans of a Class

What the heck is Architectural Drawing? Don't let Mr. Fazio, the instructor, hear you say that! If you were to enroll in his class, you would learn what it takes to be an architect: drafting plans, reading blueprints, and experiencing what is involved.

Senior Thao Anh Tu commented, "This class is easy because there's no pressure. You work independently and at your own pace." At the beginning, students practiced copying a house design. Later, they designed their own house. Finally, they designed an apartment complex.

Mr. Fazio lends his input on a student's work.

Edible Electives

Falls Church High School has three edible electives. Gourmet Foods, taught by Helen Laviolette, Restaurant Trades and Catering, taught by Dick Simpson. Gourmet Foods helps students prepare for cooking at home. They make all different kinds of food and a balanced meal at the same time.

Restaurant Trades uses the knowledge of Gourmet Foods and combines it with a professional restaurant called the Paw Print Grill. They serve dinners to athletes before games, prepare lunch for the faculty, and learn the in's and out's of running a Class A establishment.

Catering is similar to Restaurant Trades in the fact that it is also a commercial business. Students cater wedding receptions, after school activities (the Booster Club Fair) and feed the workmen breakfast. Although the classes described may sound fun and easy, they are not! Students are graded on their food knowledge, including preparation, taste, and overall appeal of each item prepared. This year Catering has also aquired a mobile vending cart. This made selling hot dogs and chili dogs afterschool very profitable.

Have you ever felt like there's no one to talk to? Have you felt like you're all alone and no one cares? Well you're not alone, and there is someone too, they're called Peer Helpers. These are students taking special classes to help you with problems and make you feel welcome. This year the Peer Helpers sponsored a "New Comers Program" for new students to Falls Church. The new students were given a tour of the school, information on school rules, as well as having any questions answered. A special luncheon was set up in order to met the Peer Helpers.

Mrs. LaViolette is the facilitator of this program, with help from Mrs. McGary and Mrs. Bruns. Two projects being continued this year are S.H.O.U.T., students helping out understanding themselves, and the "Talking Locker," where students can place anonymous notes in a locker and have answers to their questions returned to their locker.

Peer Helpers also make special trips to elementary and Jr. High schools. The Helpers talk to students about building their confidence and self esteem as well as what they can expect in the future as students at FCHS.

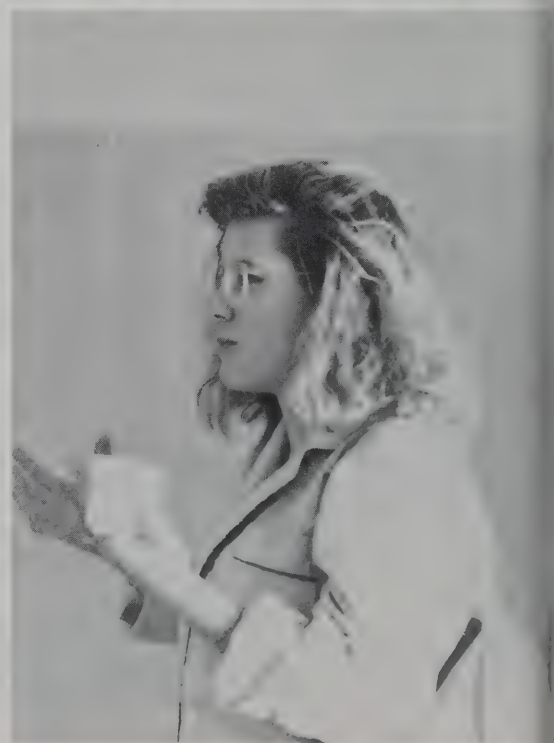

Another group of people who are learning more about themselves, are students taking the Peer Relations class. This is also taught by Mrs. Laviolette. By using verbal and non-verbal communication, they learn how to deal with problems in their lives. Guest speakers come in to lend support or discuss special problems.

If you ever feel like there's no where to go, turn to Mrs. Laviolette and the Peer Helpers.

Tricks of the Trade

Are you interested in making money? Well who in this yuppy world isn't?! Those students who chose to take a class in the business department are getting a head start on a lucrative future. "By taking Computer Programming, you have the future, because computers are the future," commented senior, Melissa Wynn.

If you decide to take a business class, you could choose from a wide array of fields. At Falls Church a student could specialize in accounting, word processing, office technology, business management, business law or, keyboarding.

Through taking a business class, you can prepare for a summer job that can turn into a full-time job and later, your career. In COE(Cooperative Office Education), Ms. Messinger can set up a job for you. This way you will get the work experience and can save the money for college, a car, clothes, anything your parents disapprove of and won't buy, or the long awaited, BEACH WEEK. Debbie Osborn, a participant in COE stated, "You gain work experience and are earning money while you're in school. You become more responsible because you still have to keep your other grades up."

Willing business students are inducted into the extra curricular club, FBLA(Future Business Leaders of America). Why not get ahead and learn the tricks of the trade?

Thank you to Ms. Messinger and the other teachers in the Falls Church Business Department who contributed greatly to this and the previous business article.

There's no time for fooling around in keyboarding, Cheyene Stillwell often has to speed type to get his work done.

A popular business class for most freshmen is typing, as Lisa takes her 1st step in learning tricks of the trade.

It Makes Cents!

HELP WANTED, APPLY WITHIN. For this area that sign is a commonality, other cities in the U.S. aren't so fortunate. To get a good paying job you must have extensive training and work experience. Competition is rough, so why not take a business course, it only makes sense?

Through Business you learn basic business principles and how they affect people in everyday life. You increase technical understanding of business activities and get a taste of basic accounting procedures. You study what a partnership is and what your rights are as a minor, through Business Law. Overall, you sharpen your ability to analyze and learn.

In Accounting you can learn accounting principles and procedures. A student learns to relate to computerized financial systems and develops their skills in book-keeping by preparing, using and interpreting financial records. This course is a must for the college bound student planning to major in accounting.

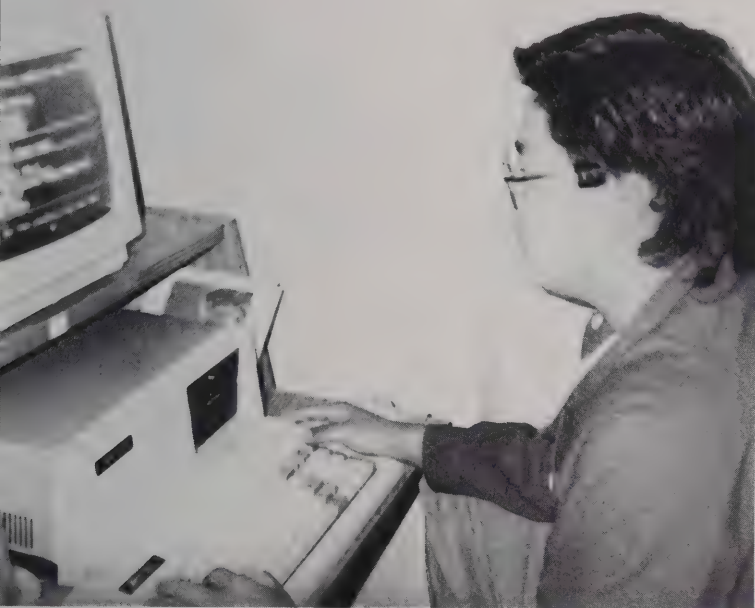

To prepare yourself for the working world you should take Office

Technology and Word Processing. Here you are exposed to various office equipment, preparing forms and filing and perfecting job hunting techniques. In Word Processing you build English and communication skills. You learn to operate such systems as IBM PC, Sanyo and MICOM. Overall, you develop attitudes essential for success on the job.

Through Keyboarding and Computer software, students learn the "touch method" of operating keyboards. They learn current computer technology, evaluate and use software on microcomputers. Accuracy and speed are a must, and so is this class, for this ambitious young generation.

Most widely known of all Business courses is Typing. By learning to touch-type and the correct use of the typewriter you become skilled in preparing personal or business letters, term and research papers, outlines and business reports.

By taking a business course you are preparing yourself for admission to professional careers and permanent jobs. You can get work experience while earning money. It's been proven that students who successfully complete business courses receive better jobs with more salary increases than other office workers. It only makes cents!

Typing 2 is an ideal class to get essays and reports done before you go home!

An important part of business is listening to Ms. Scott, as these freshmen take care to learn quickly.

A Face-Lift for F.C.H.S.

Falls Church has finally gotten the recognition it's been pleading for. Not only has Fairfax County given us the air conditioning we have been in desperate need of, but we have also been granted $11 million for the renovation of Falls Church High School of which $650 thousand is going to the new computerized heating and air conditioning unit that will be installed.

June 15, 1988, Schlosser Construction Company started the renovation at FCHS. They began with the gymnasium because the completion date was November 2, 1988 Schlosser failed to meet the due date due to minor problems with the floor. The new completion date is November 16 however if the completion date is not met again, the gym will definitely be finished by the first home basketball game. The gym will have a new floor, a ramp for the handicap and new lighting. In the lobby a new snack bar will be added.

The auditorium will consist of a much bigger stage, a computerized "light and sound control booth" for Falls Church's entertainment. New curtains and a wood paneled stage will be installed to touch up the finest drama productions.

The library of Falls Church is being expanded to quench the thirst for knowledge of the students of Falls Church High. The library will receive 8 computerized card catalogues as well as new furniture.

A new Weight room will be installed behind the auxiliary gym. Sorry Seniors, you'll miss this incredible opportunity.

In progress, old classrooms are being renovated and new ones added for the new F.C. edition. The new edition will be divided in two. One half for the business wing and the other for the new H.S. physical handicapped program which will take effect in September of '89.

In addition to the classroom renovation, Schlosser Co. have been assigned to rebuild the Chemistry labs completely, to upgrade the Auto Mechanics wing, and add a new learning classroom for that particular wing.

Also a new Child Development Center will be built in the Home Economics Center.

Behind the process of the new gym, auditorium, lobby, training room and classrooms, Schlosser Co. are painting the whole building, adding new floors, replacing all tiles in classrooms, carpeting the library and all offices, installing fluorescent-lighting and painting all lockers from "Puke Yellow" to a more "Livelier Green."

The renovation is under direction of Mr. Jim Mueller. His direction has not yet proved anything by the unbearable has caused but come August of '89, Falls Church will be the "NEW FALLS CHURCH HIGH SCHOOL."

Not only have student's been effected by the construction going on but the faculty have also been disturbed. However, FCHS consists of many cooperative teachers. Mrs. McGann's ideal of the renovation is very positive as she chants, "Temporary inconvenience, permanent improvement." Yes! Definitely FC will be an IMPROVEMENT! An 11 million dollar improvement. Sorry, Class of '89, you missed all of this.

"The students and faculty have all been cooperative in spite of the dust, the aroma of tar, and the helicopters. Thank you! We all looked forward to the NEW IMPROVED FALLS CHURCH HIGH SCHOOL." - Mr. Jim Mueller.

Varsity Field Hockey Team "Sticks" With It.

The Varsity Field Hockey team had a long and hard season, compiling an overall losing record. However, out of the season came strong individual performances by Jyotika (Tippy) Chadha, Stacey Lee and Christie Banks, the teams' MVP, who were all selected to the all-district team. Teamwork was another positive side to the season. "I thought the team worked pretty well together. We worked better together this year than last year," stated Christie Banks. The coach of the team is Carla Thompson and she has the respect & admiration of the hockey team members. "Mrs. Thompson did a good job. She pushed us hard to give 110% and said that it didn't matter if we win or lose, as long as we give our all," commented Tippy Chadha. The team is known for their strong defense and aggressive offense. Lisa Edwards sums up the season by saying "Eventhough we had a losing season everyone tried hard. It was really frustrating when we'd lose by one point in overtime but the team gave it their all."

JV Field Hockey started out the season with hardly anyone signing up for the team. There was only one returning player, Carrie Dugan. Things looked pretty bleak until Miss Jones, the JV coach, put signs up around the school and talked to some of her PE classes. Once interest was up, fifteen girls came out for the team.

During the season all the girls had positive attitudes, showed their enthusiasm, the desire to win, and really got their stick work down. Freshman Bridget Bryson was named most valuable player for the season because of her competitiveness and aggressiveness on the field. The most improved player award went to Thuy Tran. Amy Hanlein received the coaches award because of her positive attitude.

Miss Jones stated, "We are looking forward to next year, going to camp, and continuing work on our skills."

Jaguar Spirit

With a new head coach this season, Falls Church Football is on the uprise from the dreadful 0-10 record set last year. Coach Gill said, "Coaching here at Falls Church is very interesting compared to Annandale. We, the coaching staff, had less to work with than we had expected, but what we did have, worked out very well. Coach Gill also mentioned how he looked forward to working with the underclassmen next year. One of his main goals for the up and coming years is to produce a successful program and to contend for a district title.

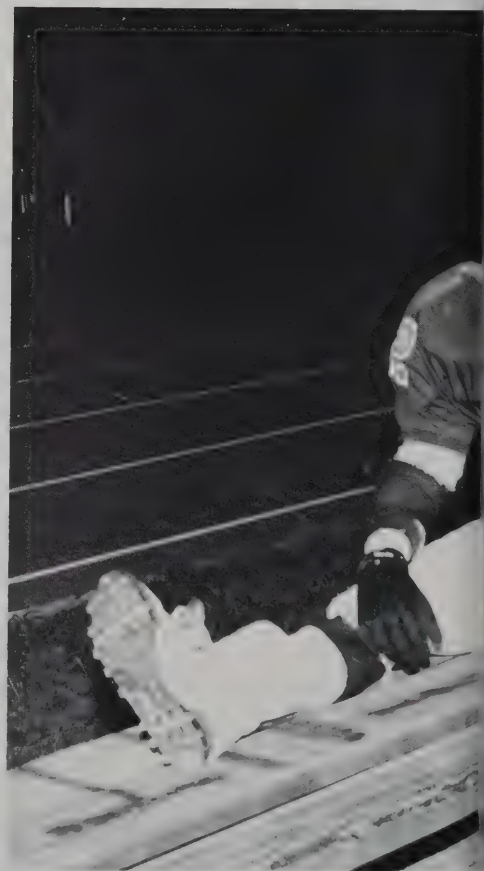

Some of the leaders Coach Gill mentioned were junior quarterback Jamie Carillo, who was ranked third in the district at one point. Senior Eric Smith, who was repeatedly mentioned in the Fairfax Journal, came on very strong for his first year playing football. And finally, ranked third in the district for rushing at one point was senior Terry Dupree.

This years' football program really showed its spirit, especially Homecoming night when they defeated Washington-Lee 19 to 14 in a close district battle. Next year, the Jaguars plan to improve themselves whether it be a winning record or just self-improvement.

New Faces and New Ideas

This year the Junior Varsity football team has had a fairly good season. Although they have only won a few games the team has never given up. The team has been plagued with injuries and on some occasions a few players were moved to the varsity squad for a certain reason. The junior varsity coaches also coach the varsity team so they must try and find a way to help the junior varsity squad on any problems they may have. The J.V. practice with and against the varsity team all the time, so that is one way they are able to help them. The school believes as do the coaches that the upcoming sophmores and juniors on the J.V. squad will be a great asset to the future of Falls Church Football. If the freshmen football team has anything to say about how the up and coming team will be, we have alot to look forward to. From talking to a few of the coaches the freshmen team has alot of talent, and should be able to be a contender within the next few years. There is alot of team spirit being displayed on and off the field. From what I have seen so far this year the up and coming freshmen will be a much talented group of football players.

STAYING ON TRACK

Over the years Falls Church has had a fairly good cross country team. For the last couple of years runner Billy Pettis has led the team with his remarkable talent. Once Coach Wells left the team was looking pretty bleak. Then Coach Dan Pitman arrived and there was a lot of hope for Falls Church Cross Country. Coach Pitman has been a great asset to a team that didn't have a lot of hope. Runner Billy Pettis says, "The differences in coaches is very great. Coach Wells was very strict unlike coach Pitman, coach Pitman also scheduled us in bigger meets so we would have more experience and more competition." Billy also said, "That no matter how much the coaching staff changes the team will never get any better if more people don't come out for the team." With all the new and upcoming talent this group of runners possesses Falls Church will have many winning seasons to come.

This year's golf team ended up with a 2-6 record. The members on the team got to play on a lot of different courses.

Senior John Johnson said that playing on the golf team was a good experience for him. He has played golf for six years and was given the Most Valuable Player award. He tied for first place in the Potomac District Tournament and qualified for the Regional Tournament. Senior Pat Conolly finished 4th in the Potomac District Tournament and also qualified for the Regional Tournament.

All the members of the golf team were seniors with the exception of one freshman. Coach Pat Dolan says, "We are looking to the future and for golfers experienced or inexperienced."

Brushing Up On the Strokes

The girls tennis team was made up of all new comers except for returning juniors, China Hwang and Rochella Pagsibigan. At the beginning of the season, skills needed to be polished upon and game experience gained. With coaching from Mr. Amorosa, the team improved by the end of the season. Throughout the season, the team was very enthusiastic and showed a lot of spirit. The top seeded players were China Hwang and Margie Saine. These winning aces made a great doubles team, placing fourth in Districts. "China and I work well together and I think we'll go far next year, maybe even regionals," quoted Margie Saine. China Hwang summed it up by saying, "Our young team has a lot of hope and will improve, with more experience."

Just For The Fun Of It

The girls Varsity Basketball team practiced Monday through Thursday and on Saturdays. Although all this hardwork did not show up on their record, it was a FUN season. They had positive attitudes and showed respect to each other. Returning seniors Jackie Holley, Lori Pocock, and Stephanie Weber showed how leadership is important. "We had our ups and downs, but in the end, it was a rewarding season," said Jackie Holley. Trinette Tucker was second team All District, and Lori Pocock was honorable mention.

Girls JV Basketball

The JV Girls Basketball Team worked hard to use their individual skills and talents to play as a team. The team played through a tough season. However, with team work and strong effort, the girls did rather well. This year's coach was Karen Weeks. This was her first year coaching basketball--she also is the Girls Varsity Soccer coach. Each player set self expectations for themselves, and the team set group expectations. These rising JV players will be a positive aspect to the team next year.

Taking it to the Hoop

Five seniors and six juniors made up the Falls Church Varsity Basketball team. "We have three key players - Chip Heflin, Broderick Clark, and Pat Conolly," said Coach Pat Dolan. The valuable qualities that this team possesses are mental strength and determination. One weak point that worries Coach Dolan is the eligibility of the players to participate. You must maintain five passing grades in order to play.

Although the season was very rough, there was one major highlight. Chip Heflin tied a 20 year old school record for scoring 44 points in one game.

With the help of the returning juniors and Coach Dolan, the Falls Church Varsity Basketball team should excel in the Potomac District in the year to come.

The 1988-89 J.V. Basketball team had a good season this year, finishing it off with a 10-10 record. The J.V. team had a variety of athletic talent and its key players were Dennis Stewart, Dan Rankin, Sherwin Johnson and Anthony Lansdown. The J.V. Coach, Stephen Wojciechowski, felt that the team had a "pretty good season" and there were many strong points, such as the strong work ethic of the team and the improvement of the players individually, as well as a team. However, the team lacked experience and were inconsistent. Coach Wojo feels that, "if the team continues to work off season they should play a lot on Varsity--the potential is definitely there."

Baby Jags Take it to the Hoop

This year proved to be a promising year for the Freshmen Basketball Team. Practice took place every day for about 1 1/2 to 2 hrs. Sometimes there were Saturday practices during the season, but all of the work was worth it, because the baby Jags went 10-10, got 2nd at the Wild Cat tournament at Centerville and 3rd at the Potomac Districts where they defeated their rival, Annandale, twice!

Coach Humphries commented that there weren't very many problems this year because "they're a good group of boys." One unusual thing the coach did with his young group of players was that the coach let all the players play no matter what. All in all part of the success of the team was the cooperation on and off the basketball court. The team seems promising for the next year as it advances to J.V.

The Loneliest Sport

This season, the track team had high hopes and an excellent chance of obtaining their goals. The change in coaches made a big difference for all the runners who were used to Coach Wells. The new coach, Joe Coates, appears very laid back but in reality he ran the team hard. The work paid off in the end and seven people went to the regional meet. "Manager, Tori Lopez, was one of the driving forces behind the team. She was always well organized and kept people on task" quoted Coach Coates. The team MVP's were Bonnie Brusstar and Clay Tompkins. The team hopes that next year will prove to be the best yet.

Gymnastics

The 88-89 Gymnastics season was a hard and growing one for the team. They faced problems with size, experience and skill. The team was led by senior Cheryl Slater and coached by Nancy Booker.

The season was fun for the members, but one lacking in practice, time, and equipment. Natascha Plouffe said, "The strong points were that we worked together and we tried hard. The weak points were that the program was not very organized. I hope next year the team will be bigger and better skill wise."

Finishing With A Flurry

HARD WORK, and many sacrifices prove to be what it takes to be a winner. Our Jaguar wrestlers proved this by finishing the second half of the season winning four, losing only three, and tying one. The Jags pulled through and showed they've got what it takes to be a winning team.

EVEN THOUGH wrestling is a team sport in which a team score is kept, it is the individual who pushes to score high, and it's that wrestler who sets his own goals.

"I just wanted to make top three in districts," commented David Hersh, a quick sophomore who placed in regionals. Added together, the individual matches came to 72 wins, outshining 54 losses.

IN THE BEGINNING, the team lacked a sense of unity. The number of prospective champs dwindled. What accounted for this?

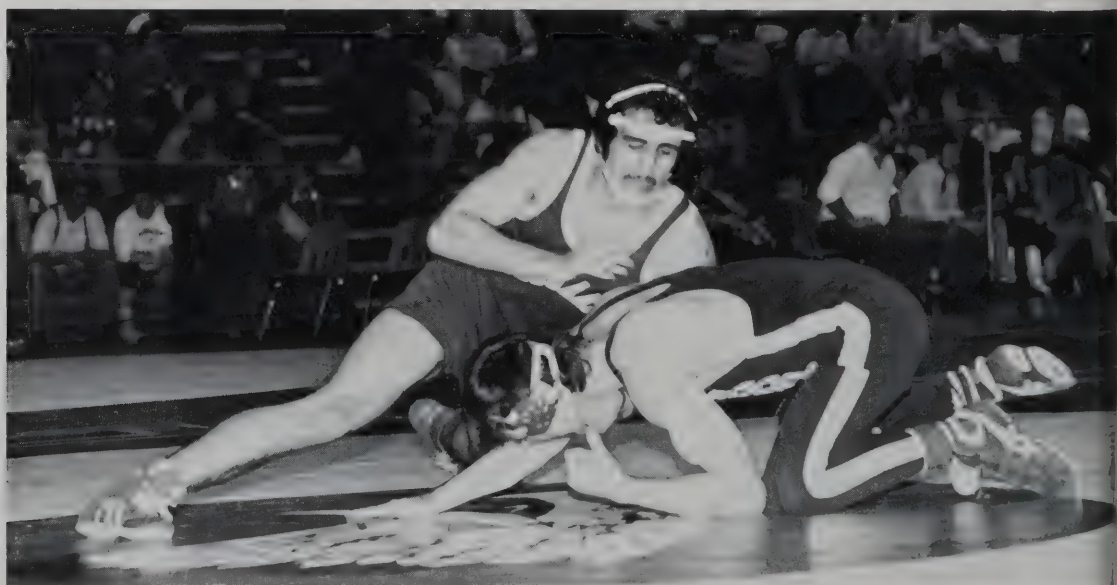

"People don't realize how much hard work, effort, time and sweat goes into wrestling," answered 171 pounder Ted Evans.

THIS YEAR has been a year of growing and learning. The team gained valuable experience and will be returning 19 wrestlers next year. The season started slow but the Jags proved to have a fiery spirit.

Senior, John Meadows said, "I was scared of being injured again and wasn't motivated, but in the end I finished with a flurry."

Senior, ASHRAF HUSSEIN had a successful season, winning 8 out of 10 matches.

Sustaining an injury he's had since sophomore year, senior JOHN MEADOWS gave his all.

Swim/Dive

This year, the Falls Church Varsity Swim/Dive team was better than ever. Although 3/4 of the team graduated; freshman, new swimmers, and divers gave their best efforts to have a successful and fun season. Much of this can be credited to new coaches--Rebekkah Small and Doug Beavers. They helped the team with the physical and mental preparation needed to compete. "I'm really glad Ms. Small was there, she really helped me bring my times down," said Celia Hanely, "with the help of Doug, I perfected my dives," said Dana Deleon. The team is doing a super job and only asks for more school support.

Jaguar Spirit

The 1988-89 Cheerleading squad started its training over the summer-at a summer camp in Pennsylvania. The J.V. and Varsity squads won Grand Champions, the spirit stick and several ribbons. The Varsity squad also won the dance and pyramid competition. Many individuals, including Sara Dickerson, Linda Grillo, Cheryl DeAquino, and Layne Rice, were recognized for being the most spirited. The Cheerleading squad had separate cheerleaders for fall and winter sports, which made it easier for those who wanted to play a sport and be a cheerleader. The freshmen cheerleaders were chosen in the fall, later than usual, because of a new Fairfax County policy but were still very good because of help from the George Mason University cheerleaders. The cheerleaders had fun cheering for the sporting events around the school, as well as at Freshman orientation, pep rallies and at the Cheerleading Jamboree, which Falls Church hosts. Oleta Jean Coday says that "the cheerleaders are good examples of what our school is all about".

There's a NEW spirit at Falls Church High School in the form of the new F.C. Drill Team. The idea of establishing a drill team at Falls Church caught the eyes of many girls in the school. Thirty-eight girls tried out, despite the uncertainty of making the team. Of the thirty-eight, fourteen were chosen for the team, two of which were alternates. The girls worked hard, through October, for their debut at the Homecoming pep-rally. They followed their appearance by performing every Friday night at the home basketball games. # Bottom of the Ninth

The 1989 Jaguar Varsity Softball team had good experienced players in most positions with Stephanie Weber, Tina Medina, China Hwang and Becky Zimmerman; all returning lettermen.

The goals for this season were better solid defense, pitching but, mostly to play in the tournaments. This year's pitchers were a little young with Kathy Thompson (junior) and Laura Meadows (sophomore) leading off.

"We have the potential to compete and win the district tournament. All we need to do is concentrate more on what's going on and cut down on errors" stated Coach Wojo.

This year the JV team was very young. They had many new players that consisted mostly of freshmen. Mr. Marthinsen, first year coach, did a great job working on their individual skill. Despite their being young and lack of experience, they displayed themselves well.

"Their hard work this year will be a benefit in the future years for Falls Church's growing softball team" - Bill Marthinsen.

7 TH INNING STRETCH

The 1989 Jaguar Varsity Baseball Team came out from the dug out to a great start this season. The team consisted of 8 returning players who demonstrated their experience on the field.

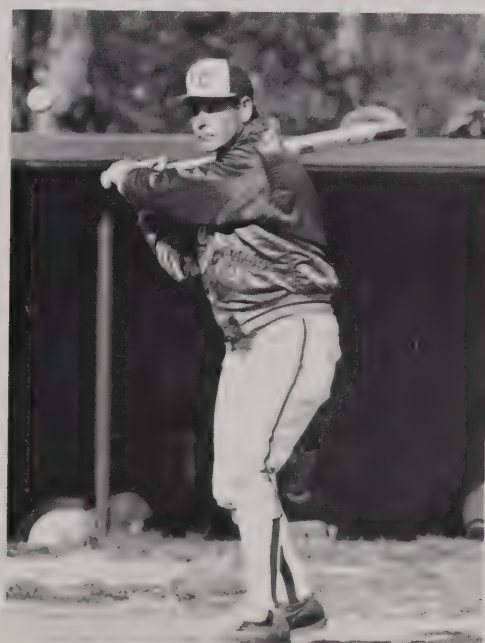

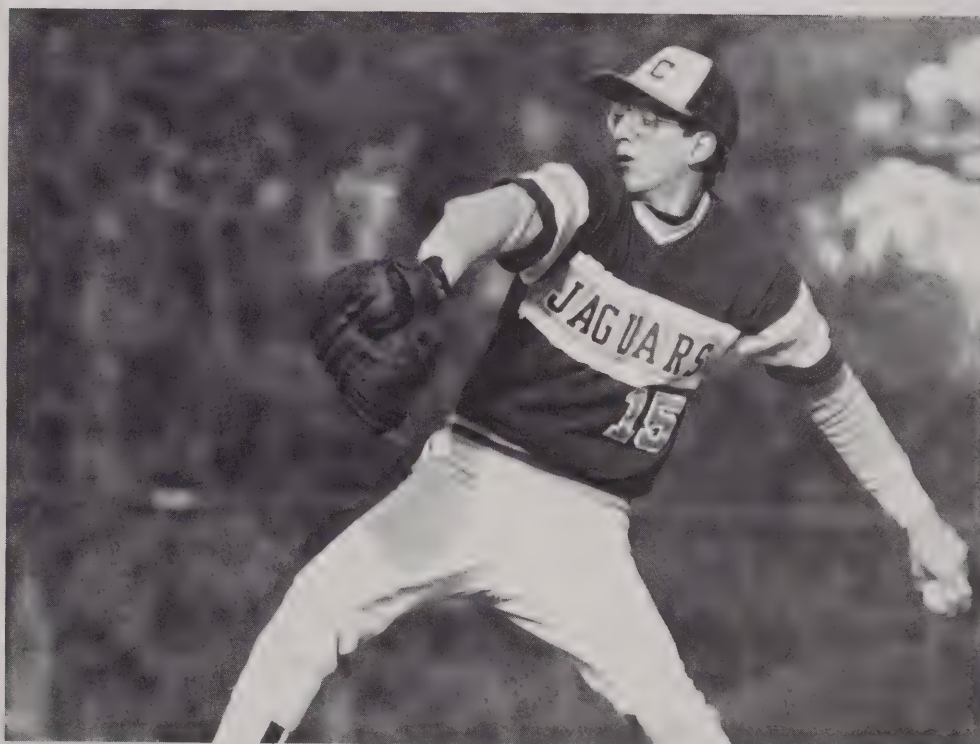

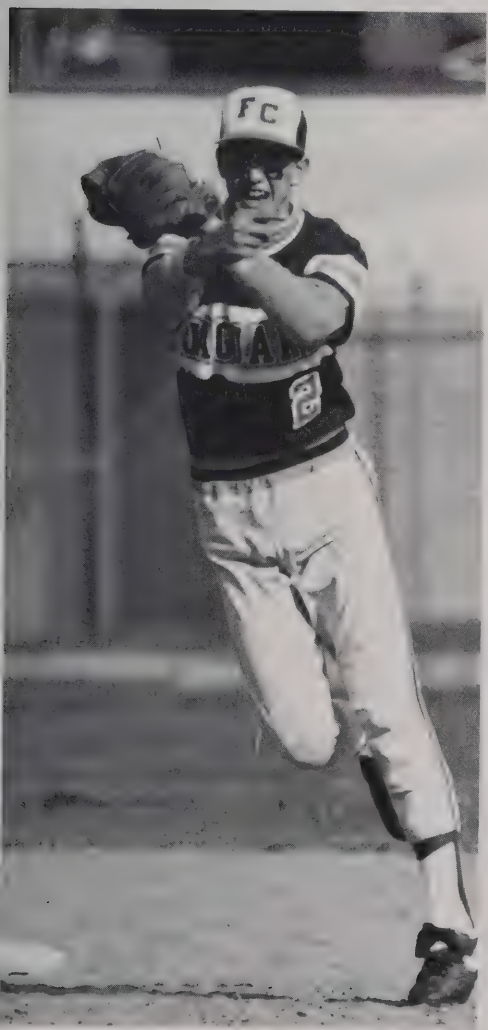

"The Potomac District, which we are a part of, is one of the most competitive districts with such strong teams as Yorktown and W & L," said Coach Thorpe. He also said that the major goal of the year was to avoid injuries.

Three Strikes, They're Out

JV Baseball

The JV Baseball Team proved to be a very promising team for the future. They showed determination and effort throughout the season. Coach Mark Richards and his assistant Keith Richards in their first year of coaching, gave the team encouragement and the help they needed. The ten freshmen and eight sophomores showed great confidence and determination as the year went on.

We've got some

GREAT EXPECTATIONS!

Do the names Peter Tran, Khai Quang, and Dan Stanton ring a bell? If you are a tennis fan then you should quickly recognize them as being the top three-seeded players of this year's Boys Tennis Team.

According to Coach Joe Amoroso, there are only four players returning from the "Top Six" of last year. At the beginning of next season, Seniors Khai Quang, Dan Stanton, and Jamie Leasure will have departed for college and opened up three positions for a new batch of Boris Becker hopefuls. Completing the "Top Six" are first ranked Junior Peter Tran, fifth ranked Sophomore Thuy Nguyen, and sixth ranked Freshman, Steve Tran.

So, you think tennis is an "easy" sport? Perhaps you'll have changed your mind after reading about what they have to do: Calisthenics, stretches, the "suicide" and "mass-suicide" runs, and laps around the track. And it's all done BEFORE getting out onto the courts to "hit the little yellow ball"!

Amoroso had high expectations for this squad and felt that those who competed in District matches (the Top Six) will have done well. The Doubles, at these matches, followed the Singles consecutively and the same six guys compete. Consequently, this reporter was concerned as to whether or not the players would overtax themselves before another gruelling round of tennis. "These guys have incredible energy," observed Amoroso wryly. "Tell them to run laps or do aerobics and they moan and groan. During practice, if they're thirsty, they'll run in and out to get drinks!"

No matter how our season turned out, Amoroso said to keep an eye out for the rising stars of the court: Thuy Nguyen (this guy is GOOD), Milan Patnaik (he's from the Patnaik tennis dynasty), and Steve Tran definitely!—will he usurp his more experienced brother?!

Running for the Gold

The Outdoor Track Team looked forward to an excellent season with many returning Winter Track members. There seems to be something special about Spring Track that brings out more students. Not only do they have more members, but spring also brings out new events such as the 100m, 400m, 300m hurdles and the discus. The increased turnout for the girls team helped them do better in the districts than earlier in the year.

The team also had the addition of 3 new coaches besides Coach Coates. They were Linda Jones for the girls, Tim Panagos, for the boys, and Coach Quick, helping the sprinters. "You have to give everyone who comes out for track credit, it takes a very special person to face one of the loneliest sports," commented Coach Jones.

Girls Soccer

When the springtime brought us flowers, birds and bees, it also brought us soccer, Girls Varsity and JV to be exact. This year's team consisted of many young players that had a lot of potential. Lisa DiGiulio and Charlene Campbell, two JV players said of the team, "we were determined to have a better season this year but we had to work on defense and working together as a unit. Ms. Weber (new JV coach) is hard working and she knows what she's doing."

Although the Varsity team had 5 returning seniors the factor also seemed to be the youth. Amy Evans was quoted as saying, "we had a really good team this year, our goal was to work together as a team and make regionals." Spring soccer is what a lot of girls look forward to this time of the year. Since a lot of the players were young and the addition of a new coach, the teams used this year as a learning experience and a chance to have some fun.

A Kick in the Grass

The Falls Church Boy's Varsity Soccer Team showed great potential since they only lost 3 positions from last year. This year the team has more experience than it ever has had. Unlike before, the team played each district team twice. Coach Humphries said "it can be harder or easier depending upon how you look at it." The team showed depth in the midfield but the defense was the key in this year's season. They started the season off with a shut-out over Thomas Jefferson.

Soccer has slowly been a growing sport at FCHS. With the help of JV Coach Rob Ogden, '87 graduate, it is receiving the recognition it deserves. The JV team had an excellent turn out although the biggest problem is making sure all the players keep their grades up. If you missed a game this year, be sure to watch for the up and coming talent of next year.

Against All Odds

BAND/FLAGS

The 1988-89 Band year has been a growing one. Despite the small number of members, the FCHS band has been very successful. In a competition at James Madison they won Best Color Guard, second Overall and received a superior rating. At another competition at Roanoke Rapids, North Carolina they won First Place Colorguard, Second Place Drum Line, Second Place Drum Major, First Place Overall and a superior rating. The Band has had to adjust to new freshmen band members and a new band director as well. On the 1988-89 band year, Marie Underhill feels that "We've overcome some incredible odds and stuck together and with the help of Dr. Hamilton we've had a good year." Dr. Hamilton has been described as great, extremely understanding, patient and an excellent musician. The band's goals for next year are to become more musical and expand. The officers of the band are Todd Math--President, Marie Underhill--Vice President, Carrie Phillips--Secretary, and John Lee--Treasurer. Band fundraising activities this year included selling Christmas Greens and fruit and "tag day". In addition to the band's great group performances, they've had many outstanding individual performances as well. Three Falls Church Band members made All-Regional Band. They are April Depauk--Clarinet, Marie Underhill--Clarinet, and Quang Le--Percussion. Keep up the good work!

Lights, Camera, Action

The Drama/Thespian Club is a class designed for students who are interested in understanding the history of theater and the different aspects involved. This year's club has participated in two One Act competitions in Williamsburg, VA. They performed "The Adventures of Nick Danger" and "Sister Agnations Tells All." This year the Drama department presented two fabulous plays. "The Real Inspector Hound" was presented in early November. It proved to be a real challenge for all involved since the auditorium was under construction and the Little Theater had to be used. The spring production, "Once Upon A Mattress" was the first production in the newly renovated auditorium.

The Drama department is headed by newcomer Larry McCormick. "He seems to have a more professional attitude about high school theater" says Donna Miller, a four year drama student. If you enjoy being the class clown or are interested in serious acting, the drama department needs YOU!

Orchestra

STRINGING ALONG

Do we have an orchestra here at Falls Church? That's probably what a lot of you are wondering? There are two violinists and two viola players enrolled in the orchestra taught by Cynthia Crumb. Because of the low enrollment, five guitar students were added to the class. "My parents made me take the class and it is very disappointing because there are so few people," said freshman Nancy Lim. The class occasionally went to Luther Jackson to have the opportunity to play in front of an audience. A spring concert was planned with the chorus. As Mrs. Crumb adds, "In about three years the orchestra will be at a peak."

THE ANSWER IS . . .

Falls Church High School's "It's Academic" team was sponsored again by Mr. Robert Margrave and lead by captain Ashley Strand. The team also consisted of Cesar "Chad" Capule and Kevin Lee, who were chosen after the annual Students vs. Teachers match, in which the faculty managed to win at the very end. There were eight alternate members and two female upper-classmen managers. They were Seniors David Weisshaar, Gabe Gamboa, C.T. Wood, Quan Luong, Richard Clark, Daniel Goldstein, and manager Erika Johnson. The Junior alternate was Danny Foos; Becky Updike acted as the other team manager. Sophomore John Bradlee was the only underclassman represented on the whole team.

Since the team was scheduled to appear in October, try-outs were held in September. Practices ranged from an hour to an hour and a half for several weeks up until the end, where the practice sessions were daily and longer in length.

Although Falls Church was not able to win, we have strong hopes for next year!

To see if you could possibly make the team, take this simple quiz:

1. The British called Sir Francis Drake a "Sea Dog" but his Spanish enemies gave him the name of what ferocious monster that puffs fire?
2. "Hunger is the Best Sauce" was a saucy comment made by what plump squire who traveled with the gaunt Don Quixote?
3. Of the three children, who survived, of the much married Henry VIII, which was the only one to marry even once?
4. T.R. Timby was the forgotten man who designed the revolving gun-turret which insured the success of what first ironclad ship designed by John Ericsson?
5. In the bitter time before the Civil War, Southern Congressman "Bully" Brooks physically attacked what abolitionist senator from Massachusetts with a cane?

The answers are:

1. Dragon
2. Sancho Panza
3. Mary Tudor
4. Montior
5. Charles Sumner

CHORUS LINES

The Chorus department of FCHS has a lot to offer. It consists of Swing Choir and Concert Choir. The Swing Choir combines singing and dancing while Concert choir is devoted to only singing. Both choirs average about 9 to 10 performances a year at places such as retirement homes, other schools, hotels, competitions, and, of course, Falls Church High. They also do many fundraisers including the Valentine's Day Carnation Sale. The courses are taught by Kim Vaganos, who comes here from Luther Jackson every day where she also teaches chorus. She is highly praised by her students. "She really makes the course enjoyable!" says Shannon Larson.

The Winter Concert was a huge success as the Swing Choir invites the audience to sing along.

Falls Church had three Model Judiciary teams this year, who took their cases to the Fairfax County Court House for competition. Here each team had to plead its case before a judge. The team of Mark Bragaw, Jon Cicerelli, and Linda Grillo were found in favor of and advanced to the local appellate level. With the help of fellow classmate, Brian Bramson, this team won again and advanced to the Supreme Court in Richmond, Va.

The teams practiced in front of each other in class for weeks before appearing before the judges. Each group criticized and helped the other group to perfect their arguments. Dr. Petrini and Mrs. Driscoll hope to keep this winning tradition alive for years to come.

FC Honor Society

The Falls Church branch of the National Honor Society was made up of students who had at least a 3.5 academic average. Applications for the club consisted of a number of essays judged by sponsor Claire Jayne. In order to raise money for the club, members sold bandits symbolic of the "Arrive Alive" campaign in FC. The club also travelled to local Jr High School, Luther Jackson, to talk to the students about entering high school and the honor society at LJ.

DEBATE, is led by Mrs. McGann and is involved in many aspects of public speaking. As the title sounds, students debate subjects of interest and try to influence others to their opinions. FCHS's debate club has been around for a while, and the enthusiasm for the club grows stronger every year. "I'm just so happy that we have such a large participation. I enjoy helping students broaden their concept of different subject" stated Mrs. McGann.

Mr. Motes, the sponsor for this activity, said, "We have many outstanding speakers such as Josh Anderson, Becky Updike, Kevin Lee, Mary Andrews, Katie Kerr, Cathy Wimberly and Cindy Southworth who have all won at selected meets." These students advanced to the regionals which were held in March.

The ENGLISH TEAM is sponsored by Mrs. Yim. With the number of students totaling over 22, the English club is well on its way to being one of the most stable clubs in Falls Church. They compete in categories such as Literature, Definitions, Punctuation and Spelling. The work is a great mental challenge for all, but the results are rewarding. The English Team isn't all work though, according to Karen Evans, "since most of the people on the team are friends, it makes it a comfortable atmosphere and lots of fun."

Traditions Live On

Latin Club and German Club are not strangers to FCHS. Although the German Club has been absent for some years, it is now back and this time to stay. Mrs. "Frau" Grau is the sponsor of the reformed club. She is new this year to Falls Church. Bonnie Brusstar presided as President, Sylvia Lipinska, Vice-President, Mollie O'Donnell, Secretary and Historian, and the Treasurer is sophomore Joe Steele. Bonnie Brusstar, remarked that the German club got off to a good start. The German language is even spoken in the club as often as possible. The Latin Club, learning and enjoying the history of ancient Rome and its language, is going strong in Falls Church. The sponsor, Mrs. Braun, is also new to Falls Church this year. The President of the Latin Club is Gabe Gamboa, the Vice-President is Josh Anderson, the Secretary is Barbara Kelly and the Treasurer is Danny Foos. The interest of the club is growing since the long awaited Latin Honor Society was formed. Latin student and club member, Mike Jones, gave insight for the future when he said "Latin club will be around for a long time, as long as the interest of Rome and the Latin Language stays."

The French Club was sponsored again this year by Madame Miskell. The officers were President-Tammy Sheldon, Vice-President-Christine Wan, Secretary-Nicole Naworal, and Treasurer-Ayesha Velderman. The club sponsored the French Connection, a newspaper that featured stories written by staff writers, and also the submissions of various French students. The club had hoped to go to Quebec once again, but not enough people had signed on.

F.H.S.

A continuing tradition of excellence at Falls Church High School is represented by the Falls Church Chapter of the National French Honor Society. The academically elite, in French, are chosen for this honor. The eligibility requirements are tough. You must be enrolled in a minimum of level 3 French, attain an overall G.P.A. of 3.0 in high school, and in your preceding years of French, having attained an average of 3.5. This past year, the F.H.S. got under way quickly. At the first meeting, officers were elected. They were--President-Quan Luong, Vice-President-Quynh Nguyen, Secretary-Erika Johnson, and Treasurer-Becky Updike. The F.H.S. met once a month to plan various activities, whereas the officers met much more frequently! The new sponsor this year was Madame Alnwick, a new teacher here at FCHS. If you love the French language, the culture, want to experience beyond what is taught in the class, and can meet the requirements, come join!

Unlike NSHS, the Spanish club is for anyone interested in the Spanish language and culture. The club officers were President Patty McPeters and Secretary/Treasurer April DePauk. The sponsors were Nancy Fitzgerald and Nancy Fee. The Spanish club's activities consisted of charades and other games played in Spanish, listening to Spanish music and a Christmas party. # Preparing For The Business World

The Future Business Leaders of America is a club, and it's purpose is to help prepare the active business students for what is expected in the business world. FBLA also helps them become more knowledgeable about business careers. This year's FBLA club has approximately 85 members and they were all required to pay a $6.00 fee for a year's membership. The members held fund raisers and helped raise money to purchase computer disks for the business department.

FBLA has invited many businessmen to Falls Church including Frank Meeks of Dominos Pizza and Spencer Bartley of the Southland Corporation. They also sponsored American Enterprise Day activities in November and FBLA week in February. It can be said that the FBLA club of Falls Church High School helps the students learn more about businesses and how they can become more involved.

The Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA) is a co-curricular organization within Marketing Education, taught by Ms. Hartell. Fashion Merchandising and General Marketing students were all members. The club's purposes were to develop leadership in marketing and further career development. Fashion Merchandising students took several field trips to see and learn all they could about a possible career in fashion.

Trips to local malls and shopping centers provided an opportunity for professionals to speak to the members and show them exactly what is involved in merchandising, sales promotion, advertising, customer services and other marketing skills. Some of the trips taken were to Georgetown Park, Metro Center, and Union Station. The COE club is also related to DECA.

Vocational Clubs at F.C.

VICA stands for Vocational Industrial Clubs of America and is comprised of Auto Mechanics and Cosmetology. This year the club has about 50 members with Kenny Weisskopf as the President. Like Civitans and FBLA, VICA is a nation wide organization of almost 12,000 chapters. This year at Garfield H.S. on March 11th VICA had a regional competition which ranged from automotive knowledge to a writing contest. Falls Church students participate in 3 categories: From Automechanics, Ken Weisskopf, Pat Byers, and Rick Picon will take part in the automotive skill olympics; and Brian Curtis in the essay competition. From Cosmetology Brenda Scruggs, Mary Crisler, and Huong Nguyen competed in a job interview. VICA is a growing club and plans several other fund raisers this year. Recently Snap-On-Tools company donated a peice of machinery for auto mechanics because of the 100% membership this year.

A Math Challenge

The Varsity Math Team made up of all upper-classmen had excellent participation this year, with fourteen members. The students' math courses ranged from Trigonometry to Pre-Calculus. The Varsity Team competed twice a month, after school, in district competitions and once every month in state competitions. Varsity members answer five questions each and the team that ends up with the most correct answers wins. Kevin Lee was quoted as saying, "District meets are usually harder than the state meets, but for each correct answer in a state meet, we receive one extra credit point in Mr. Newsome's math class."

Junior Varsity competes during class once per month. In the years to come, they too will compete after school because it conflicts with the class time. The JV math team may not be the most glamorous extra-curricular activity but you still can have a good time while learning.

African Studies

In the 86-87 school year a survey was done on the knowledge of the African continent and given to Falls Church students. The four grade levels did very poorly. Therefore, a club was started along with the half-credit class under the same name; African Studies. Although the club is new this year, it had a good turn out of 25 members, most of who plan to take the class as well. The club meet's once a week and often has speakers, videos, and open discussions, where all can contribute their views. Mrs. White is quoted as saying "There are so many different cultures in Africa that this club is not here to just provide information but also to enlighten the members." African Studies is planning a field trip to the African Art Museum, a talent show, and will participate in the International Fair.

Who's Running FCHS?

SGA

Who's the Boss? The student body, of course!

We're in control ... thanks to the Student Government Association! It's because of the SGA that the student body has such fine communication with the faculty.

Did you know that the SGA is JUST starting to be recognized throughout Fairfax County? Little do we know of the extraordinary amount of work the SGA does to get and analyze student input. The SGA worked very hard and not much credit was given.

This year the SGA had lots of impact on school life by becoming involved in making changes and handling problems which needed to be addressed. They learned first hand exactly how our government works.

This year the SGA was very active and managed to get the majority of FCHS student more involved.

SAC

Many people don't know what SAC is, and like SGA it too is not widely recognized. The SAC is the Student Advisory Council. They are representatives that have direct access to the School Board and the Superintendent. Certain members of the SAC cover advisory in Fairfax County and others just in the Falls Church area. The Falls Church SAC help the student body by identifying major as well as minor issues important for students. They serve an important role for all student issues and make recommendations to the student board for the benefit of your student body. The SAC covers the same process as the SGA. They investigate anything that pertains to the students and their school.

Stayin' Alive

FCHS speaks out on drinking and driving

SADD was organized in another school a while ago by students who lost a friend through drinking and driving. Soon after that, schools across the nation opened chapters of SADD in their own schools.

SADD stands for Students Against Drunk Driving. One of their goals is to help students understand how and why DWI is dangerous, and other alternatives to getting into the car drunk.

SADD consists of President, Liz Huh, Co-President, Traci Sommerkamp, Vice-President, Nikki Brown, Secretary, Laura Dingley, Treasurer, Jenny Larson, Historian, Anne Palace.

The future outlook for SADD is bright since membership has always been high, and many activities were planned for this year and next year.

Plans for the year included the anti-drinking and driving campaign for prom. The past slogan of "Arrive Alive" worked well in the past and could even carry us through this year with its strong support.

The Prize Winner

"There is an amazing literary and artistic talent that exists in this school," gleamed Mr. Margrave, the "spirited leader" who created the FC literary magazine in 1978.

The literary magazine is a collection of the school's literature and art from FC students. Senior Lisa Kim commented, "Some stories that I've seen are incredible!" Senior Quan Luong added that there was "some quality work but also a share of bad work." (The literary magazine will always look impressive as long as FC has its devoted sponsor, Mr. Margrave, and the creators of excellent literature & art, FC students.)

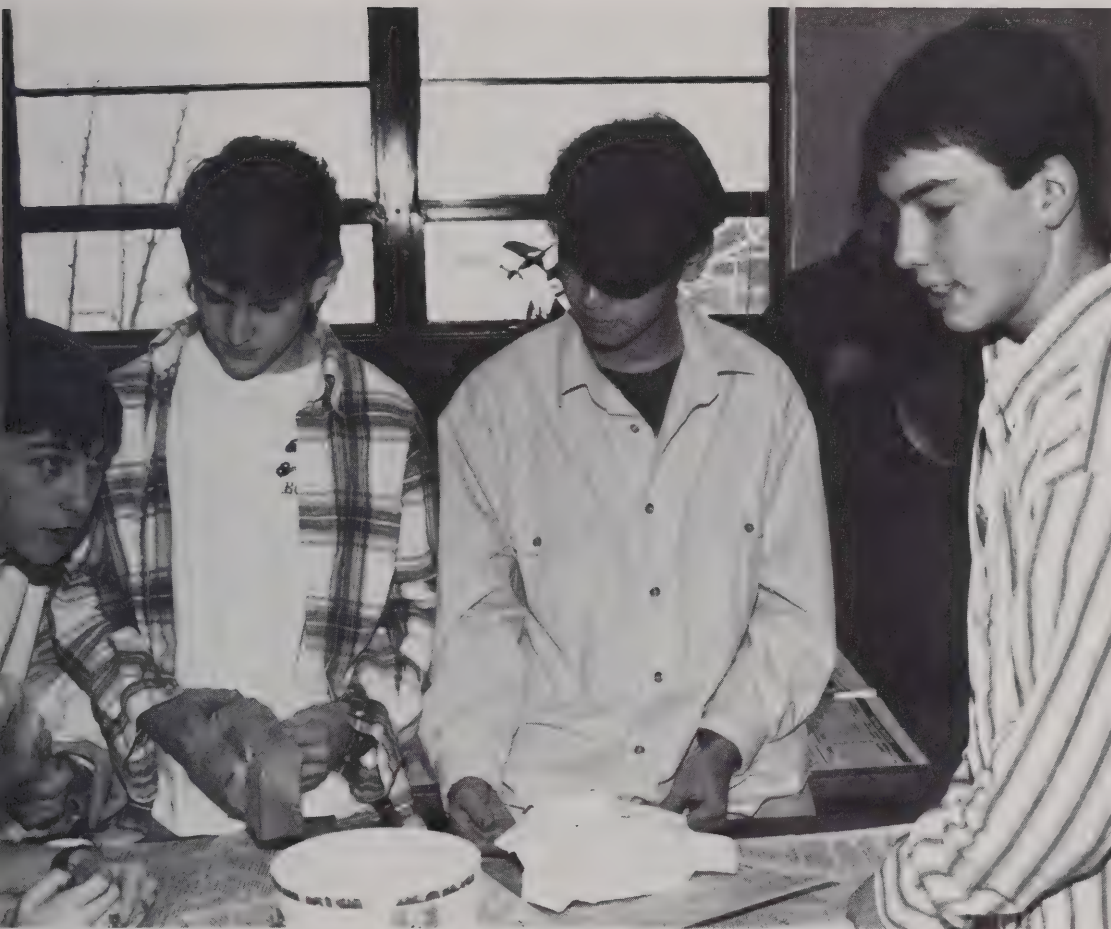

The following are proofs of the magazine's accomplishments: 1st place from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association (1984-1987), the Medalist Certificate-a higher ranking (1988), & 2 "All Columbian Awards" for its design & layout.

Artistically Inclined

Artistic abilities are hard to come by, but this year the Art Club blossomed with talent and experience.

There were 15 regular members who in their free time learned the crafts of a sundry of arts. The Art Club created visual displays for our school, as well as designs for other schools. The club made decorations for the Area Office.

The Art Club spent the remainder of the year working with Chinese painting, water colors, pastels and other techniques of art. According to Mrs. Shaw the club sponsor, "Our club is an open studio. Our work covers all kinds of arts and crafts. Most of our students have an interest in an art career, others join for fun as well as a new hobby."

Mask Making can be fun as well as messy.

Painting . . . . a must in ART!

Volunteers

Raising Money For Relief

This year has been a successful and busy one for the Civitans. Besides helping out with the Marine Corps Marathon and working on the annual blood drive, the Civitans hosted several seasonal dances. All the money the civitans raised was sent to Jamaica for relief after Hurricane Gilbert. The Civitan officers are President, Mike Hobiena, Vice President Liz Huh, Secretary Vickie Wojtowicz, and Treasurer Tara Fortune. The sponsors are Mrs. McDaniel and Ms.

Manczuk. Mike Hobiena sums up the year by saying "Every school needs a club like this one--we do a lot of work and we deserve to be recognized more for it."

FC's Key Goal

Opening the Door to a Better Community

The Key Club opened the door to another year of voluntary endeavors with a new sponsor, Mrs. McGann. This was Mrs. McGann's first year sponsoring the Key Club, though she has sponsored other clubs in the past.

Due to the increased spirit of the underclassmen, the club has gained many new members. The requirements for being a member are paying dues and participating actively in various club sponsored projects. This usually includes working with the American Heart Association. The Key Club's activities also deal with services for the school, when they're asked.

Fund raisers were also important for all the members. The Key Club sponsored the Sadie Hawkins dance and held numerous car washes. A majority of the money went towards the payment for club members to go to a Convention in April. At that Convention, Key Club Members from all over the Capital District met to discuss the activities they sponsored over the past year. Officers and regular club members also attend workshops to learn how to be a better Key Club Member and how to make the club better. Everyone gathers to share different ideas to improve the club and fundraising ideas. Being in the Key Club, one "attains a sense of pride and accomplishment through serving their community," quoted junior president Mike Dalkin. In the future the Key Club hopes to build up it's potential of excellence and be recognized in and out of the community.

Deadline or BUST!!

According to Senior Amy DeLeon, this yearbook class was noticeably different in size compared to last year's. However, the main objective remained the same: to produce a yearbook Falls Church High can be proud of. But there was always something that plagued the class: DEADLINES(ugh!). 20 out of the 24 people are new to this class; therefore, they lack the knowledge of putting together a winning yearbook. A missed deadline costs money. A junior said, "Some people don't do what they're suppose to do." But with Mrs. Henderson, the sponsor, constantly emphasizing the importance of our goal, we eventually got our act together & strived to get articles writtended & typed, pictures developed & cropped, & layouts drawn & completed. All work was turned into our hardworking editors. This course wasn't something anyone expected. Some expected not to work much. Perfection was stressed so that any errors would not cost us time or money. A senior added, "It takes so much cooperation from everyone to work together. We can't slack behind or we'll regret it."

A rare moment, the staff working together.

Buy one scumm, get a yearbook free.

THEY MADE THE NEWS

One of the duties of Production Editor, Michael Brazinski, is to check roll.

The Jaguar Journal was headed by Editor-in-Chief Asha Jain, Managing Editor Paulene Pakidis, Assistant Editors Sumavathey Ang and Christine Schilling, and sponsor Lori Bouchard. "This past year, the Jag Journal was sent home with the PTSA newsletter," Lori Bouchard said, "because a lot of time and effort were put into the individual issues. When the issues were distributed in school last year, often times by the end of the next class, Jag Journals were found lying on the floors of halls or in the trash. We wanted to expand our audience to parents who don't get a chance to read it." The Jag Journal is full of different and interesting articles for a diversified student body. Most often, human interest stories, such as apartheid, are features. The process of selecting which articles are to go into upcoming issues are discussed at a class brainstorm. When there is not enough room for all the articles, the "evergreen cut" is used. That means nondated material is cut by Asha Jain and Production Editor Mike Brazinski with the help of Lori Bouchard and saved for the next issue. Journalism I is a prerequisite for the class, unless there is a specific duty such as business manager, and once in the class, everyone is required to write an article per issue. The most important thing this class has learned is "Group Dynamics" and how to build an issue from scratch. When asked if the class should be recommended to anyone else, they all responded with an overwhelming "Yes!"

FINALLY 89!

The school year of 1988-1989 has been the best and most important year of our lives. We Seniors have made it through four years of changing principals and being inferior to all the upperclassmen. But this year is our year for making changes.

This years' Seniors have managed to raise alot of spirit for our class, get more involved in clubs and extracurricular activities, and take on the responsibilities of being the leaders.

We have united socially and managed to seperate cliques. We've welcomed new friends and peers with open arms. In one of the most tragic times of our lives when we lost a fellow classmate Rebecca Peacock, to a freak accident, the Seniors stuck together and comforted the ones that needed it most.

The class of 89' has held together through thick and thin, we can only hope that senior classes to come will watch and learn that unity is the most important factor in making your class the best.

The Class of 1989 would like to wish future generations the best of luck in all the coming years.

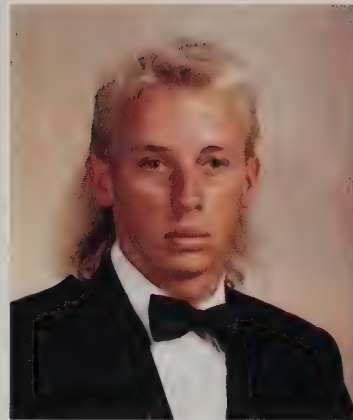

Team work makes things possible as shown by these dedicated seniors.

Helping to keep our school clean.

Teachers

Which One's the Best

The class of 1989 tried to choose a favorite teacher. Fortunately for Falls Church High School, there were a number of teachers who fit into this elite group.

"She's awesome, because she is so much like a kid," students say of Ms. Scott. "If we have a problem she will try to help us out with it. Ms. Scott is also a very fair person," say Albert Agondo and Jon Cicerelli.

Mrs. Bouchard is really funny and she gets along with her students very well," says Susie Cimaglia, Kristen Gano, and Chip Heflin.

Mr. Dolan is another of the Senior's favorite teachers. Terry Dupree, John Meadows, and Tommy Watkins say, "Mr. Dolan is very understanding." They also believe you can talk to him "like one of the guys."

"Mrs. Singley gets along really well with her students and the students feel they are able to talk to her without getting a stupid answer," says Lisa Edwards and Anita Carshult.

These are just a few of our favorite teachers as Seniors, and we'd like to thank them all for giving us one of the best years of our lives.

As you can tell by the look on his face, this is Mario Zuniga's favorite class.

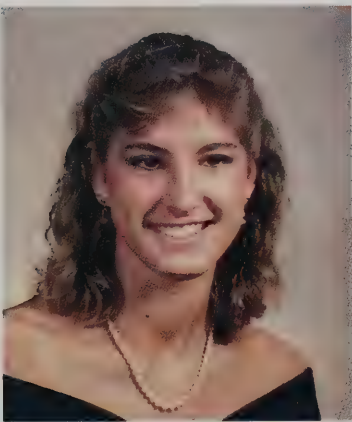

Laurie Vetter shows that disappointed look as she leaves school.

Chris Lile looks perplexed as he is called to give the answer.

Coach Dolan looks on as Pat Conolly breaks a little sweat.

A Social Life?

Once upon a time three years ago, on a friday night, Jimmy sat at home watching Miami Vice. He was interrupted by the almost forgotten sound of the telephone.

"Hello, Jimmy speaking, how can I help you?," was his cheerful greeting, "oh it's only you Hobi. (pause) Yeah my parents make me answer the telephone that way, pretty corny, huh? Well, I guess I can, let me ask my dad."

Jimmy rushes to the den where pop is smoking a cigar reading the paper, "Dad, I was just wondering if uh, you could maybe uh- take me over to Hobi's house?"

"Well son," said his father gruffly, "it seems as though you are over at Mike's house more than you are at your own home."

"Gee dad, it's just a bunch of guys watching movies and stuff," replied Jimmy.

"Well, its ok with me, if it's ok with your mother." grunted dad.

Jimmy ran back to the telephone "Hobi, my dad said it's ok, I've just gotta ask my mom. Well - I'll work on her." He clutched the phone to his underdeveloped chest, "Mom, Mom he yelled, "Mom, Dad said it's ok if I go over to Hobi's, can you give me a ride?"

His mother came up from the basement steps with a fully loaded laundry basket. With a grunt she plopped it down on the kitchen table, "What are you yelling about? Something about Hobi's?"

"Yeah, can you give me a ride to his house?" pleaded Jimmy.

"What have you done around the house this week? Is your homework done? Did you clean the garage and take out the trash?," she reached for her keys as she pinned back loose strands of hair into her ponytail, "I hope you appreciate all this carting around I do. You'd think I was a taxi service. I can't wait 'till you drive, then we'll see...."

Rolling his eyes Jimmy returned to the phone, "Ok, I'll be over in 10 minutes! Yeah I can bring some food."

And that's how our social life was born.

One year later we found ourselves hanging around a new crowd, we changed from "the kids you grew up with" to teens finding our own cliques. We found new ways to get to Luria Park other than walking or our parents. Now that we were Sophomore's we were less timid about "bumming" rides or asking an older friend. Many a friday night was spent at the bridge hanging out with the gang.

With our 16th birthdays came the most relished of all gifts, our liscense! Exploring became our exciting art of over stuffing our cars, going to downtown D.C, and being back before our curfews. We expanded our awareness of N.Virginia's most secluded and private spots. Meeting kids from other school areas kept our social life from being a complete drag. Remember the nights we were too noisy, got kicked out of our "party" spot and ended up caravanning within our cars and trucks to the Powerlines?

Fade - into your years later:

Jim is in his bedroom rushing back and forth to the bathroom shaving and getting ready to go out tonight. He buttons up his stone washed button fly's and steps into his Timberlands. When his mother calls to him to come to the phone.

"Hey Hobi, yeah I can drive tonite, but what's going on after the game?" Jim asks, "Oh, Mark's parents are out of town, you say SE-NIORS only! Cool, it'll be rockin'. Who all is going?

We'll stay. "Ok, I'm out the door! Later."

Jim jumps every other step on his way downstairs and grabs his leather flight jacket almost knocking his father over.

"Hey son, where are you going tonite? We never see you around anymore, sometimes I wonder if you haven't already moved out," sighed Pop.

"Aw dad, I'm just going to the game with the guys, and afterward we'll probably go to Pizza Hut." breathed Jim.

"Just don't make it too late son, I'd like to spend some time with you tommorow, maybe go fishing or catch the game on t.v.", smiled pop. Jim just beamed, " Sure dad."

Brad Smith was one of the lucky few whose name was drawn in a lottery for parking.

Due to reconstruction, most all of the senior parking was cut. Anyone who wanted to drive to school had to park on the street.

A Cut Above the Rest

Junior year. Magic words to some because they open the door to that elite group of people-the Upperclassmen.

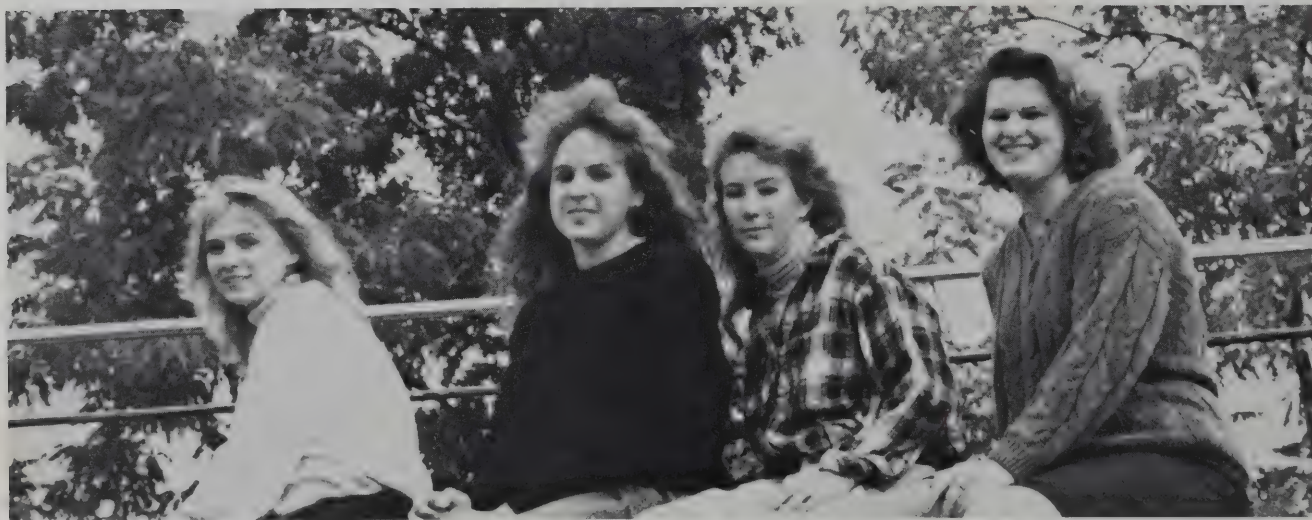

A complete change of officers had helped to bolster the class spirit. This year's officers were: President-Katie Kerr; Vice-President-Kerry Leibig; Secretary-Barbara Kelly; Treasurer-Moira Cook; Legislators-Dee Cartwright, Amy Evans, Scott Leishear, Mike Wiles, and Linda Woodard.

Early in the year, we sponsored the Welcome Back Dance, sold donuts, chose the site for Prom and participated in a wild opening Pep Rally!

This past year, we Juniors had hoped to make straight A's (if that's possible) knowing that colleges weighed this year more heavily. We passed our classes, drove our new cars, rallied the class spirit, and most importantly, planned the Junior/Senior Prom!

Being an upperclassman, albeit a Junior, definitely had it's advantages. Of course, there was the "upperclassman" status where no one picked on you, except the Seniors, but there was more to it than that. Receiving our class rings, having gotten a chance to play on a varsity team, and not having any more gym classes!

Junior Mollie O'Donnell probably summed it up best when she said it was the beginning of our "Countdown to Graduation!!"

Olympic Hopefuls

Num Kutz has been doing gymnastics since he was 7 years old. He started when they had a gymnastics club at his elementary school and liked it so much he continued. Num is now an excellent gymnast-he placed thirty-third in the Junior Olympics. Since he placed in the top 40, he qualified for Olympic training. He has placed in the top 5 in about 20 small meets and he recieved first place in all-around at a meet in Sweden called "Malarcupen."

Despite all of these fabulous achievements, Num does not feel he's very good. He admits he has a low self-esteem in gymnastics. Looking towards the future, his coach and his parents want Num to be in the 1992 and 1996 Olympics, and he hopes to obtain a gymnastics scholarship to Penn State.

Cathy Wimberly has been swimming for nine years. Her mom made her start as a way for her to release energy and she has been doing it ever since.

Cathy holds records for the girls 9/10 medley and freestyle relay. She also holds records for the 50 metre and 100 metre backstroke. She is second in the nation for her age group and holds a variety of pool records and was named "All American" at her prep school. The competitions Cathy has participated in include the Junior Olympics, youth Games, Eastern Zone Championships, and national meets in Florida, Wisconsin, Texas, Pennsylvania, New York, and West Virginia.

As of now, Cathy is training at the prestigious Curl Swim Club under Pete Morgan. Curl Swim Club has produced such talent as Mike Barr, who placed fourth in this years Olympics.

Because of her records, Cathy had the opportunity to train under Rowdy Gaines, the winner of 3 gold medals in the '84 Olympics. Her idol is Janet Evans and she hopes to participate in the '92 Olympics.

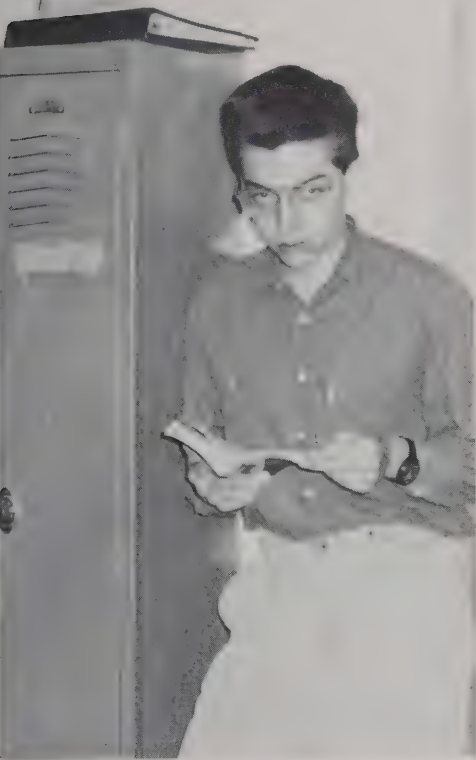

Num Kutz and Cathy Wimberly are two people that are outstanding athletes as well as students. We hope to see them in the 1992 Olympics, so good luck and go for the GOLD!

Colleges??

As the junior class, we have one more year of high school-a year of choices. We're starting to look at colleges and making decisions on what kind of occupation or field we want to spend the rest of our lives with. The class of 1990 knows where they're heading for college. Here are the top ten choices:

1. University of Virginia
2. James Madison University
3. Virginia Tech
4. William and Mary
5. George Mason
6. Harvard
7. Naval Academy/Stanford
8. Georgetown
9. University of Chicago
10. Oklahoma University/Clemson

SOPHOMORES

TWO DOWN-TWO TO GO

The sophomore class of '91 described? SPIRITED! This class started off their second year at Falls Church with the spirit only titled to the class of '91.

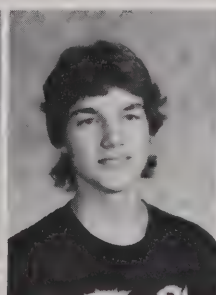

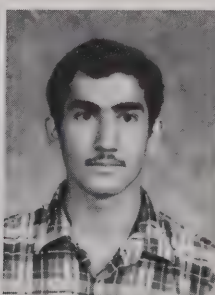

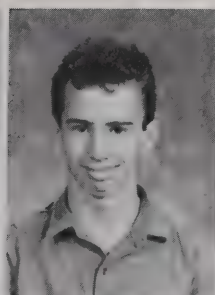

Losing some of that freshman "low-life" status, but not yet gaining the upperclassman respect, the class of '91 managed to hold their own. The sophomores lived the highschool life; participating in sports, clubs, pep rallies, car washes, bake sales, and the list could go on.

Sophomore year was also a year of much more responsibility. Many sophomores took Drivers Ed. and earned their long awaited drivers licence. Also the realization of college and SAT's struck with the sign up for PSAT's.

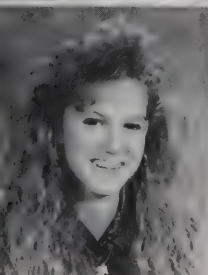

To sum it all up, the class of '91 got it together.

'91 LEADERS

The sophomore class was represented by its officers: President - Mike Evans, Vice President - Philip Kim, Treasurer - Kathleen Murphy, and Secretary - Katie Ngo. The Legislators were Karen Evans, Dee Dee Hawa, Thuy An Le, Anne Palace, and Beverly Reader.

At the end of last year, all of these students attended a workshop to learn responsibility and cooperation when working in a group. Those representatives worked together in organizing car washes, bake sales, and other various fund raisers and activities.

To sum it all up, when it's time for Prom, the Class of '91 will be able to throw a KILLER Prom!

..... Strangers in the Night, La, La, La, La, .....

Dribble, pass, shoot, score!!!

Dana DeLeon weasles her way out of detention when caught in the hall without a pass.

The License, Finally

Each class has their own traditions. Seniors have graduation, Juniors have class rings, and for the Sophomores . . . it's Driver's Ed.

Learning to drive was not an easy task. First came Driver's Ed. Students had to learn about the rules of the road, courtesy, and the meaning of road signs. They had chapter after chapter to read and answer questions on. Then came the movies that showing the results of disobeying the laws.

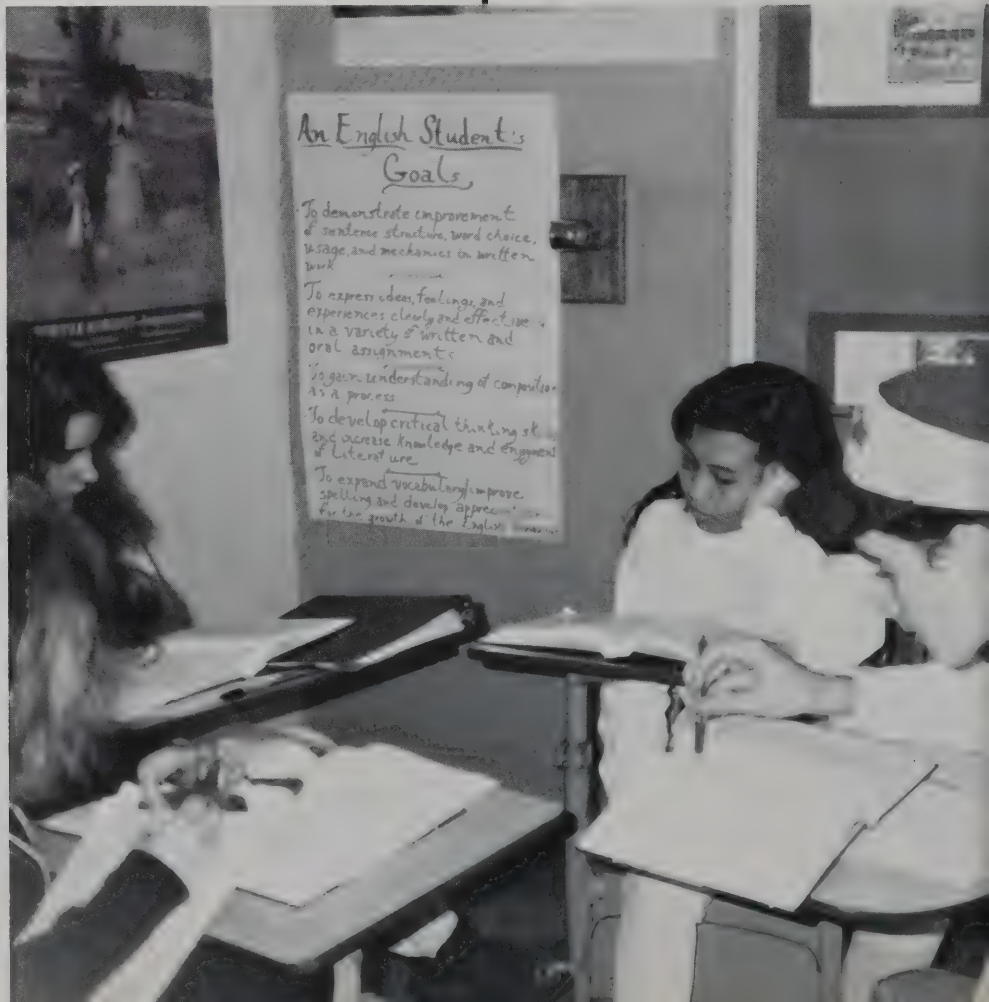

The classroom instruction wasn't the most interesting part, but it was needed to acquire a driver's license. Then everything that was taught and quizzed was put to good use. Behind the wheel was fun, yet grueling. Each hour driving with the instructor was an hour closer to driving on your own.

Now that he has a license all Charlie Brown needs is the keys to this truck.

Sophomores, Trey Baumgardner and Cindy Steen, show off their new car.

"Behind the book" was a large part of earning a license.

Kathy Hetrick gives a "go die" look at the prospect of homework.

Wanda Grant demonstrates the fine art of make-up application to Krista Coe and JT Daniels.

THE SOUND OF FREEDOM

AH FREEDOM! That was what most freshmen liked about high school. They had the freedom to express their feelings. There were other freedoms such as, when they got to school they didn't have to go straight to class, they could meet each other in the hall near their lockers. Another freedom that the class of '92 enjoyed was the fact that lunch was their time and they could spend it any way they wished. For example, they could eat lunch in the cafeteria or they could sit in front of a friend's locker and talk the half hour away.

One other thing that freshmen like was the coke machines at the front of the office so they could get one on the way to the bus. It was a nice refresher after a long hard day of freedom.

Debbie Jackson and Diana Mock, best friends.

Johanna Sawyers isn't too thrilled about being a freshman.

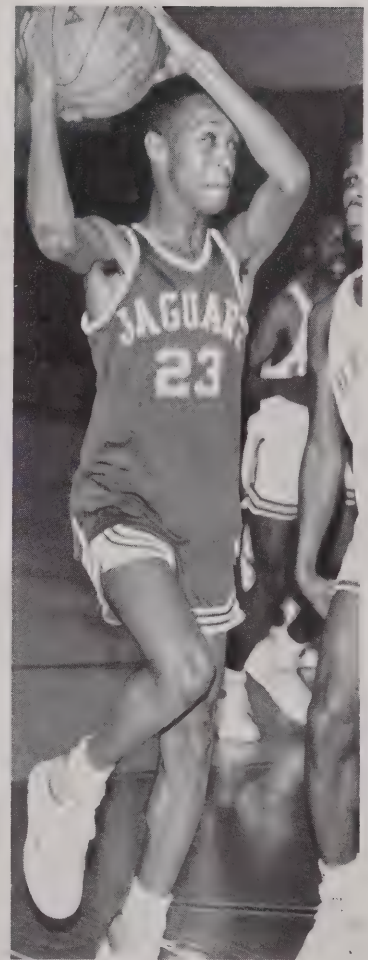

Veasna Lao doesn't seem to think gym after lunch is much fun.

Making the Change

The transition from junior high to high school was hard for some people and easy for others. When asked what was different about high school, some students said, "more freedom", while others said, "more homework". Other differences between the two that they mentioned were the coke machines, lunches, candy sales, football games and pep rallies. Despite all these changes, however, the class of 1992 seemed to adjust well--they tried out and joined numerous sports teams and clubs that we offer at our school and have been successful in all of them. They had a lot of spirit and, as one freshman said, "a lot of pride" in their class.

With renovations going on, this freshman walks to his class in one of the trailers.

The teachers here have personal relationships with the kids. The class of '89 is a great group, this is credited to their parents as well as to us at Falls Church. What you are to be, you are becoming."

Sizing up the Year

The school year of 88-89 is now complete and it is time to move on. For many students at Falls Church, that means continuing their education here, and striving for what they want out of life later. For the class of '89, it means freedom and moving out into the real world.

The people who have attended Falls Church will carry with them the triumphs and tragedies they have shared together. The new friends that were made and the old friendships having been strengthened. The surprises and the disappointments all blended together with the experiences everyone shared.

As we sit and watch the building changing shape we wonder what lies ahead!

Tony Hardesty and Marlie Saenz go out to celebrate the end of school.

Colleen Morris says thumbs up to a good year and an even better one next year.

Although construction was a major part of our school year, we look forward to "air conditioning."

As the year closes - we would like to say good-bye to Mr. Simpson who will be involved in a teacher exchange program next year.

Friends, that's what it's all about.

Good friends celebrate the end of the year.

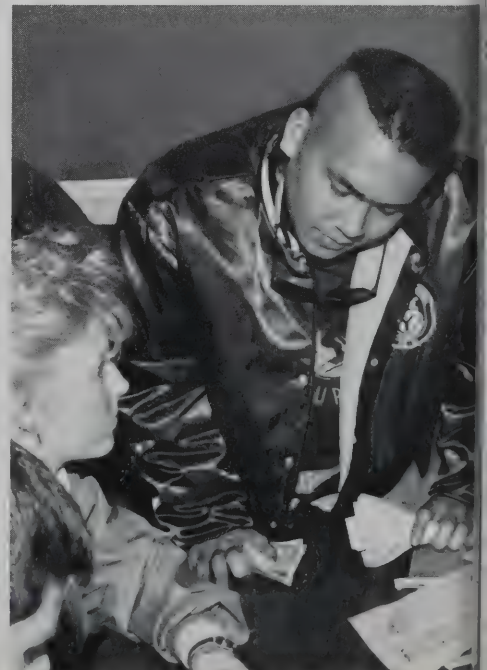

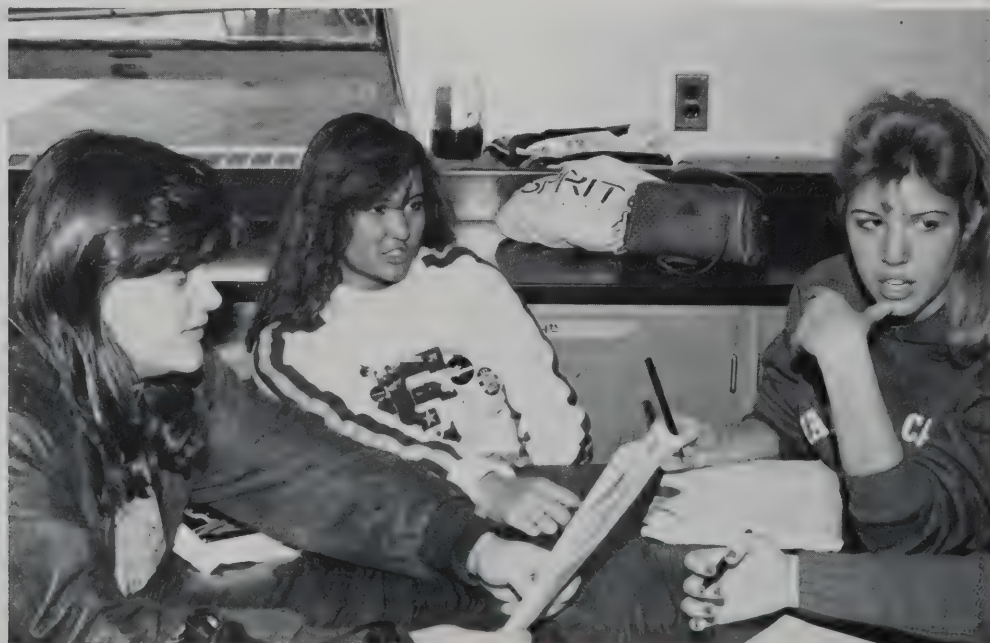

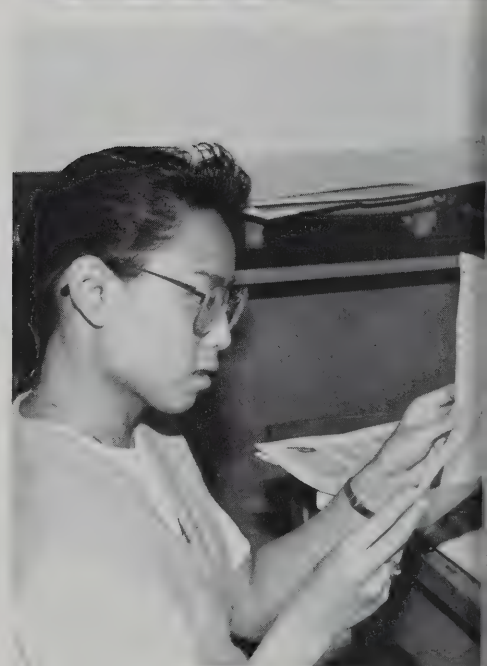

As we put the finishing touches on the yearbook, there are several people we would like to thank:
